Jan,

Jan.
It's been really great having E.S. class with you this year. I feel as though we're gotten pretty close. I hope we have more classes next year.

SPOTLIGHT ON THE FCHS SCENE!

Pride. Every school has it, but what is it about Franklin County's pride that makes it special. Maybe it's because we've got it all the time. It didn't matter what the scoreboard showed or what the newspaper said, we were still number one. Sometimes it was difficult to hold onto our pride because we were often put down by Roanoke, but we always held our heads high. We didn't need to convince Roanoke that we were number one as long as we knew it ourselves.

Antics of the clowns in the homecoming parade kept the spectators laughing.

Happiness. It's the major ingredient for getting the most out of life. No matter who you are, it seems you're always striving for it.

No one was happy all the time. Everyone had days when nothing seemed to go right, but there was always a friend who would be there to brighten the day with something as little as a smile.

For most people the key to happiness was in his/her attitude. Everyone's heard the saying "Smile and the world smiles with with you". A lot of times that held true. If you made up your mind to have a good time, nine times out of ten you usually did.

At FCHS there was almost always something to make you happy. There was a constant round of activities including sock-hops, games, meetings and social affairs that are a part of high school life. Often you found yourself so busy that you forgot your troubles and realized you were having fun.

Although school life isn't always ideal, most agree that FCHS is a great place.

With a new fashion era, there was also new hair styles and most girls were into curls as shown here with Twe'la Edwards.

Dressed in the latest disco, casual, and sports fshions are Donna Hodges, Rita Campbell, and Linda Rigney.

Bass and Baby Doll shoes and the traditional red jacket of Franklin Count High School were seen all over the campus. Mona Smith, Mark-Smith, and Gail Hughes model these fashions.

Loose blouses and dresses with a belt around the waist were popular. You saw wide, skinny, shiny, leather, and black belts. Most of the girls at Franklin County High wore their belts with pants, dresses, and blouses.

Even guys like to get dressed up. White pants, vests, and colorful shirts were very fashionable, especially on the disco scene. Patrick Helms is wearing some of the latest fashions of today.

Could these four freshmen be talking about fashion? "Trak" shoes and boots were one of the many fads of the year, as were corduroy pants with the shirt tucked in. The girls wore sweaters and shirts with cowl necks.

Summers Were Never Long Enough

During the hot summer days, Brook Side Pool was a busy place.

Getting to summer school on time was an easy job for David Gray.

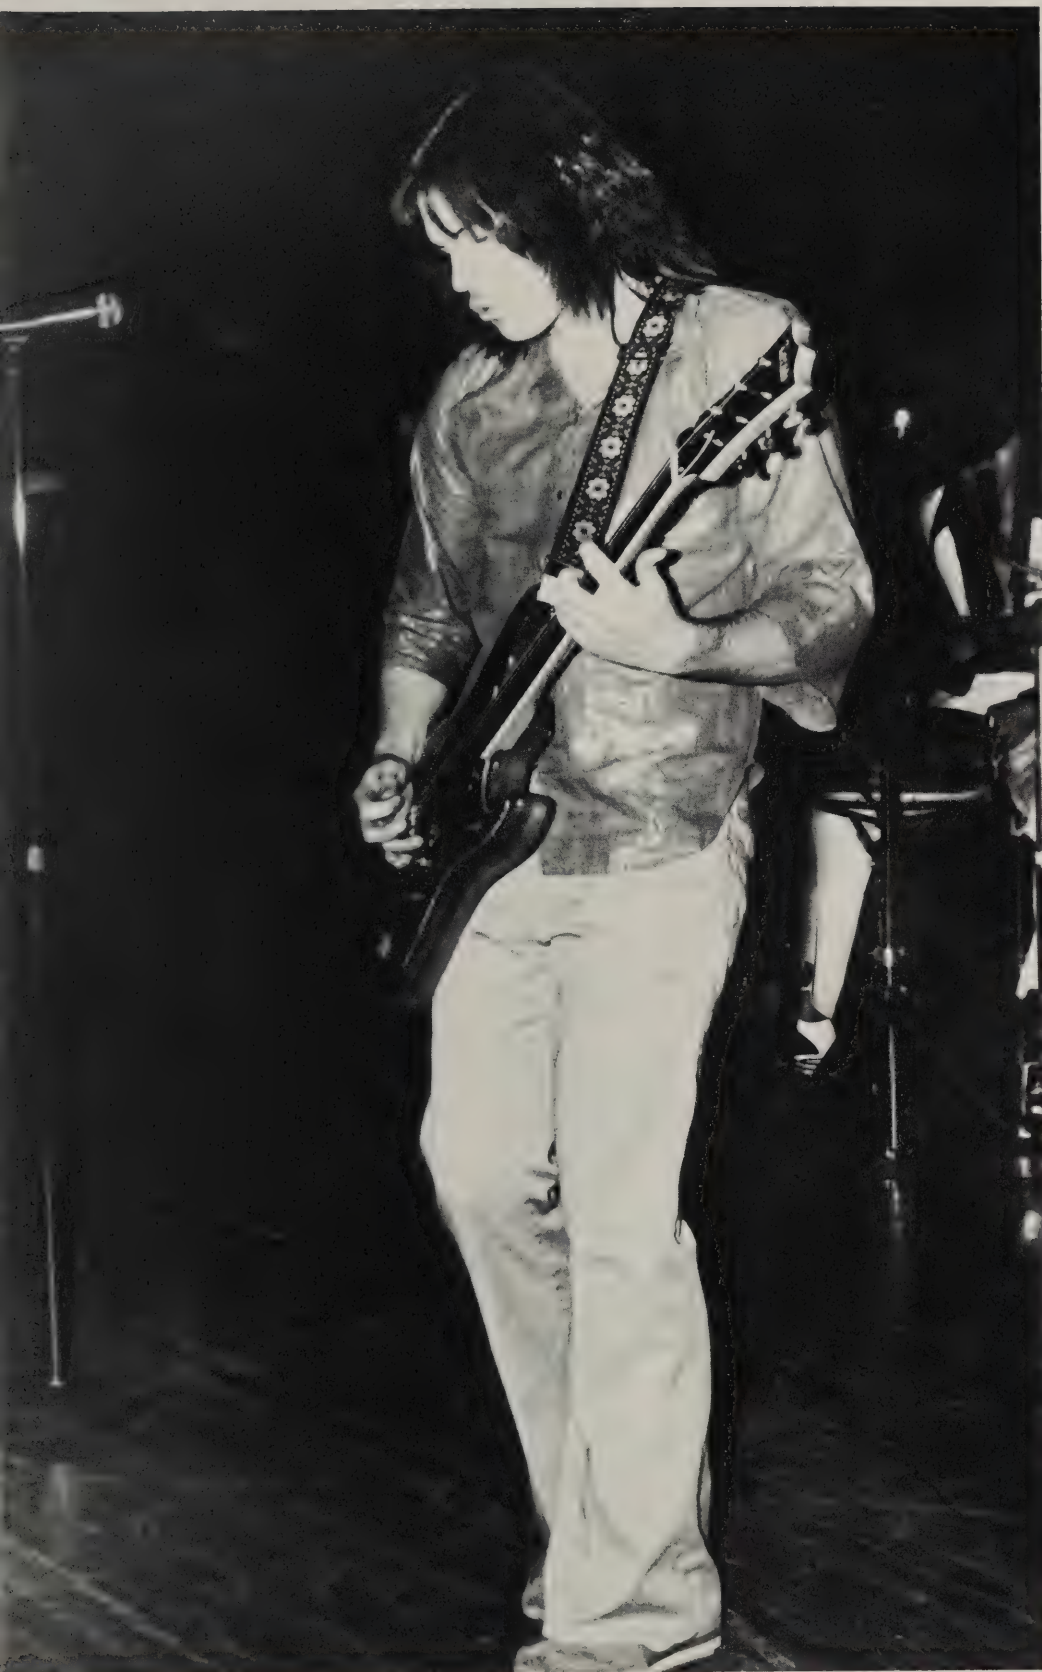

No one was left out of the action during summer school.

Up, up and down, Kim Easter is about to take a cook dip.

The C.E.T.A. program provided many jobs for students during the summer.

100. from page 3.

Making his instrument ring, Eric Lindsoe makes the crowd happy.

I guess all of this is just leading up to this 'You've been & are the best friend I have ever had. I don't want anything and I mean anything to put a champion on

When the final bell rang on the last day of school, books were thrown into the air, screams of joy were heard all over the campus, good-byes were said, and the water fights began on the buses. That's how our summers got started.

Some unfortunate students returned in a few weeks for summer school, while others spent lazy days at the poolside. Still others busied themselves with summer jobs to pay for that new car.

It didn't matter how you spent it, summer was a terrific season, but still it was good to get back to school and be reunited with friends.

as we can drink more crazy... I know I have corrupted you and even say I'll put myself out straightened out someday. I hope not - now for long... Well I guess I can still talk to you & I don't have to write everything. But I do want you to know I think you're a great Christian

Everything Wasn't A Total Loss

Playing records on a stereo that skips may not be everyone's idea of a perfect dance, but that's what we had to make do with when the band, Nassau, became confused about directions and went to Rocky Mount, North Carolina. After weeks of work and planning it all seemed worthless, but the cheerleaders managed to make the best of what could have been a disastrous situation.

The mood was set and although the music wasn't ideal, couples still managed to have a wonderful time.

Another dance was scheduled for November ninth after the last football game.

The dance wasn't a total loss, but was named as "The dance that never was".

Togetherness

College Day was exciting for one and all. Sharon Kasey and Roger Hopkins enjoy the friendly atmosphere.

Taking time out for refreshments was a favorite pastime for summer students.

While everyone else is conversing, Camille Legans takes a Fritos break.

Togetherness. Being human, we liked being together. Problems had to be solved; boredom had to be erased; spirits had to be raised. Having those special friends made school days something to remember. Having a funny joke or listening to yesterday's soap operas from a student who stayed at home just for that purpose would keep boredom in its place. Everyone wanted to know what happened to Phoebe Tyler in "All My Children". Phoebe was always trying to be in the spotlight, but she never made it. However, she gave us togetherness in thought.

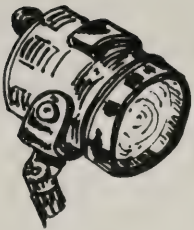

Looking like their work is being done, students take a glance at the outside world.

Pep-rallies give students their chance to show sprit.

Taking time out to converse during College Day, Sarah and Sally Foster plan for the future.

Even sophomore Barry Campbell was involved on College Day.

Showing our team that we were behind them 100%, Teresa Cooper yells her support.

Awarding Dena Helms is Mrs. Keen.

Sometimes it seemed that all there was to life was a never ending pile of work and worry. That's when we needed something to break the monotony and that's where special events came in. Everyone appreciated and enjoyed whatever it was.

No matter what your tastes were, FCHS had something special to offer you. High School life was filled with events including dances, games, assemblies, and class trips to name a few. Memories of these events became special.

With smiling faces, John Carter, Sheryl Kingery, Julia Bowman, Dena Carter, Gina Rhodes, Mrs. Bandy, Eric Ferguson, Lisa Ashby, and Elaine Reynolds prepare to go to England.

Memories Make The Spotlight

Awaiting the arrival of the graduating class were the "Big Three"; Mr. Hubbard, Dr. Campbell, and Mr. Hawkins.

Chatter was spreading around fast in the Freshmen Class at the first assembly.

Wonder who the Freshmen
are!

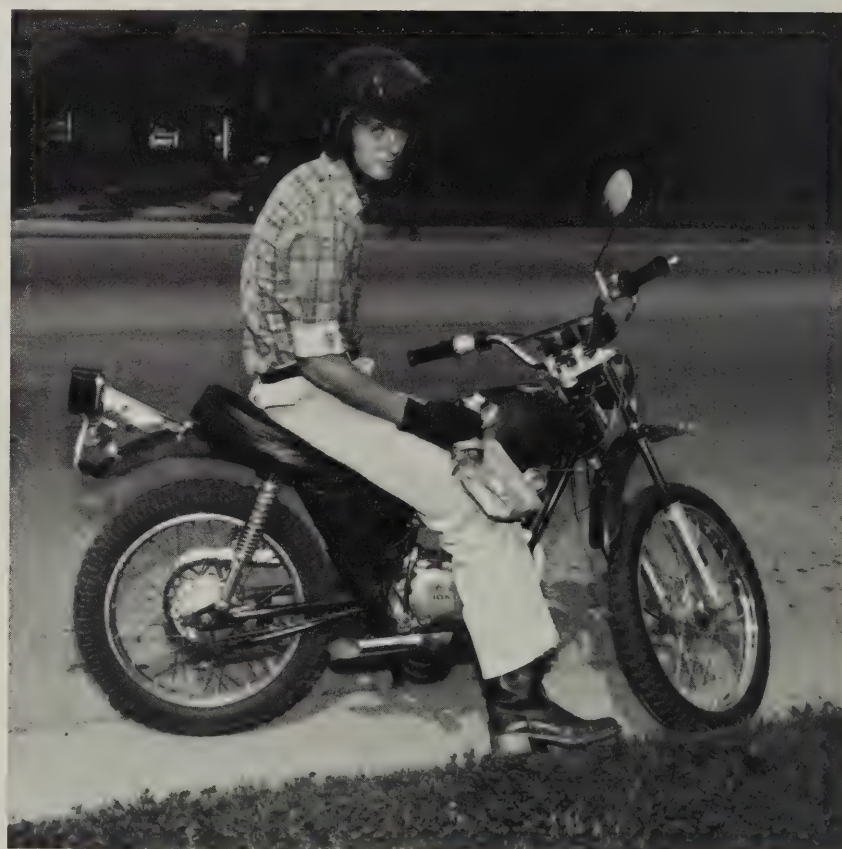

Are you sure that is tobacco in that cigarette?

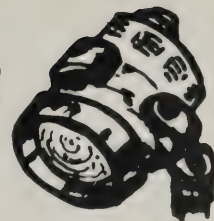

Teachers were always around to watch our every move.

Posed on his Honda motorcycle, Pete Didlake takes a rest from riding.

Discoing after school was enjoyed by Gail Hughes and Jimmy Machenhimer.

Like a herd of excited sheep, students left the classrooms on Fridays at 3:15. They went their separate ways to another life of work, fun, and laughter.

Some joined work forces as waitresses, clerks, grocery baggers, filling station attendants and factory workers. Others looked forward to hobbies like riding motorcycles, dancing, and taking care of their wheels.

Visiting special friends made weekends to remember.

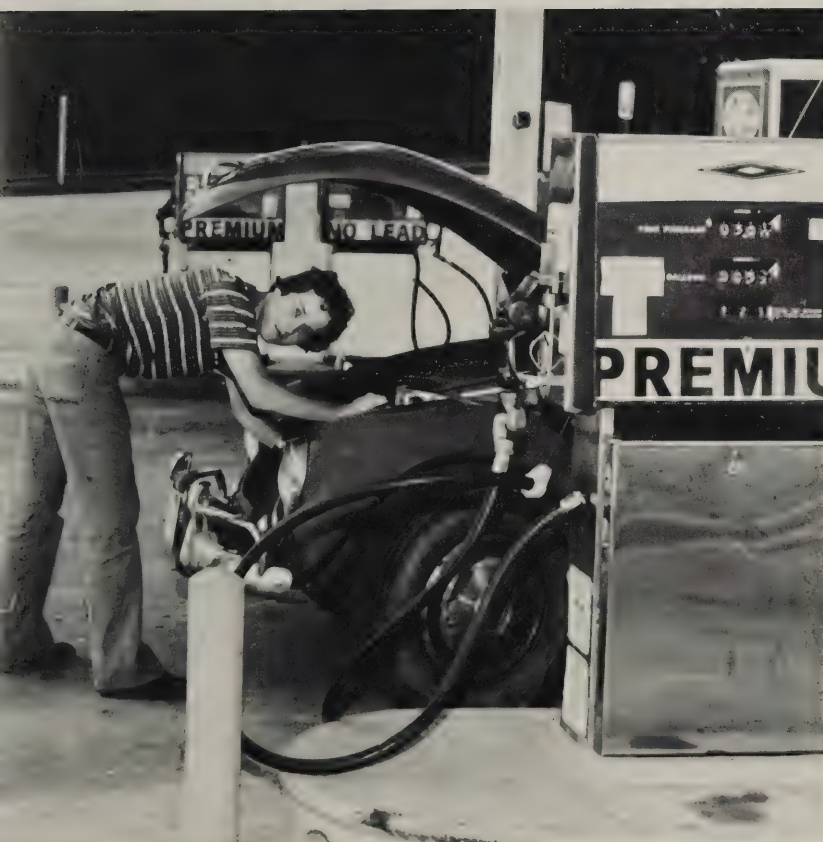

Wherever students were, most of them wanted to stay, but Monday mornings always came to ruin their fun and games.

Discussing the future are senior Penny Witcher and Junior McKinley Nelson.

Keeping the wheels on the road took expensive gas an oil.

Discoing on the sidewalk are Donna Tyree and James Cuff.

After Friday 3:15

It wasn't hard to notice Mr. Adams, our principal, in the school cafeteria.

Lunch time was the period that everyone looked forward to.

Sophomore girls enjoyed chatting in the halls.

Even though smoking was dangerous to your health as determined by the Surgeon General, many people smoked anyway.

Between classes, Sheila Morris takes time to clean out her locker.

Lunch time was the relaxing period for the teachers: Mrs. Lovell, Mrs. Snead, Mrs. Reeves and, Mrs. Simmons.

Sometimes it seemed like school days were all the same, but when you stopped to think about it you realized how much variety was in a school day.

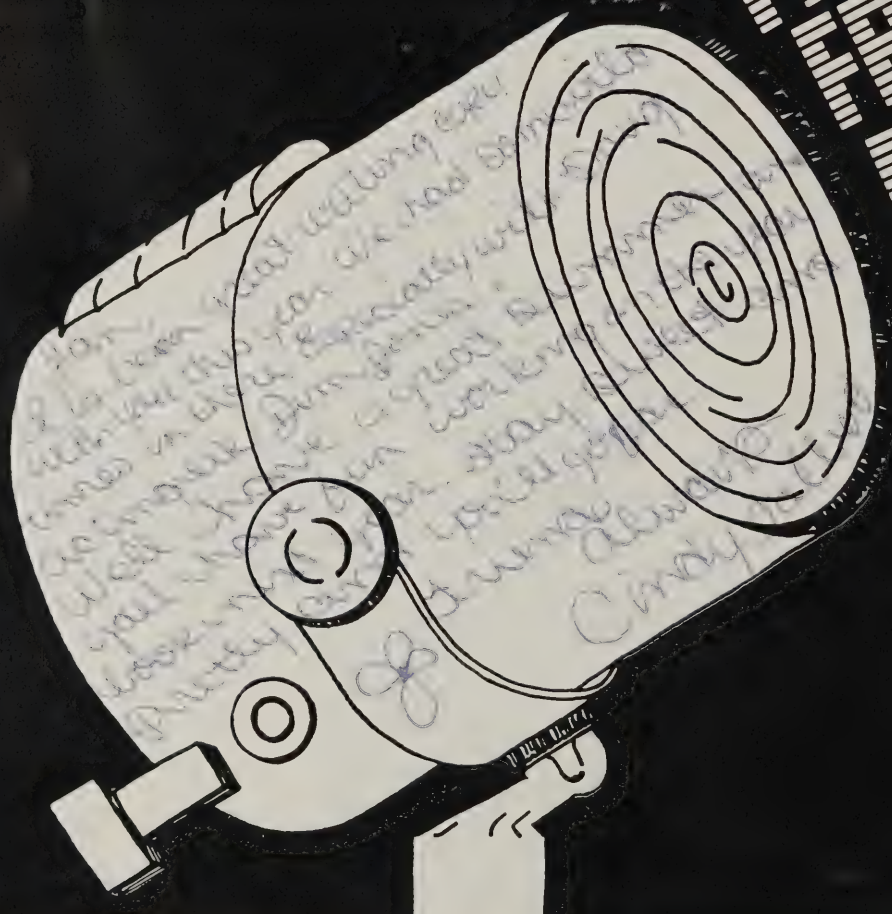

And some days you felt like you were about to fall asleep in class and other days you felt so attentive that you didn't want the teacher to stop talking until the bell rang.

Everyone had their bad days along with their good days, but most people want to remember the good and forget the bad.

Typical School Days

In the spotlight, Morden Preston does his stuff.

For Franklin High I yell, I yell, I yell, I yell,
For all the teams are very, very swell.
And anyone who says that we can't win,
Just goes to show how very, very wrong they
are.

So let us fight, fight, fight for victory,
And let our names go down in history,
We're gonna put ol' Roanoke outa sight,
Yes, you're right Franklin High Hey!

Sports were constantly in the spotlight.
Even when things weren't going well and victory was far out of sight, the fans never stopped supporting their teams. Sporting events gave us a lot to look back on . . . the football team's losing record, but winning attitude . . . I varsity and ninth grade volleyball second in the district . . . I tennis coach,

Barbara Flora voted coach of the year . . .
Bobby Fralin on the sidelines with a broken foot instead of on the football field . . . an-den Preston's famous slam dunks . . . losing our voices after pep rallies . . . jogging up little bit rowdy at basketball games . . . the cheers of "we're number one" after winning a game . . . the silence through out the crowd after losing a game in the final seconds

No matter what the scoreboard showed, the fans were always there cheering the teams
on because they were all proud to be Eagles,
so they were all winners.

Almost At The Top

Making the spotlight was the '79 baseball team. Their season record was 13-7 placing them in second in the district.

Early February found twenty-two eager players being coached for a tough schedule. Cold winds, snow, and rain made the practicing even harder, but the rewards came soon as the Eagles defeated E.C. Glass in the opening game.

However, the fourth game of the season against the Cave Spring Knights handed the Eagles their first defeat.

With the exception of Cave Spring, the Eagles managed to defeat every team they played-some once and some twice.

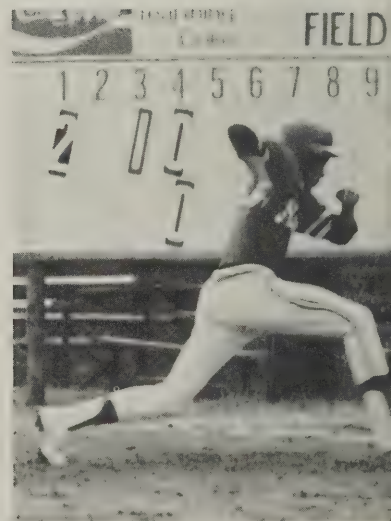

But the losses were there too, and they usually came in the last few innings. These losses were by small margins.

Making the Metro Team for the Eagles were Barry Washburn and Tim Prillaman. The Roanoke Valley District was new this year. Barry Washburn, Tim Prillaman, and Jerry Davis represented Franklin County on this team. Jerry Davis received the award for the most valuable player. Gary Hunt, Barry Washburn, and Tim Prillaman received awards for best fielder, best hitter, and the most hustle, respectively. It was a season when victories were expected and accomplished.

Getting Into

Having the most successful season in the history of the school, the tennis team left many great memories to hash around. Their only losses were to Patrick Henry and Cave Spring.

Tennis season always began with conditioning drills. These drills were often held in disagreeable weather since the school lacked indoor courts.

Also, tennis was a spring sport, and in most area schools, it was a year 'round sport.

The team found itself rebuilding since five of the top six players graduated in the spring of '79. They found out how it felt to be a winning team, so building again was worth the effort.

Springtime found those eager tennis players learning and practicing new skills in order to keep their records at the top.

Making The Hard Work Pay Off

In the dictionary track is defined as the athletic events performed on a running track and the field surrounding it. But to the 1979 varsity track team, it meant much more than that. Track meant hours of running, jumping, and throwing. It meant sweating, leg cramps, and pulled muscles. And it meant learning to work together as a team.

All the hard work eventually paid off as the individuals built themselves a team they could be proud of. Records were broken and times were improved.

Bertha Clayborne broke the school record in the long jump. Ty Walker's record breaking pole vaulting sent him to the state track meet. Both the 440 and 880 girls relay teams set new records for future teams to break. Also breaking records were Twela Edwards and Dennis Laury.

The season's record

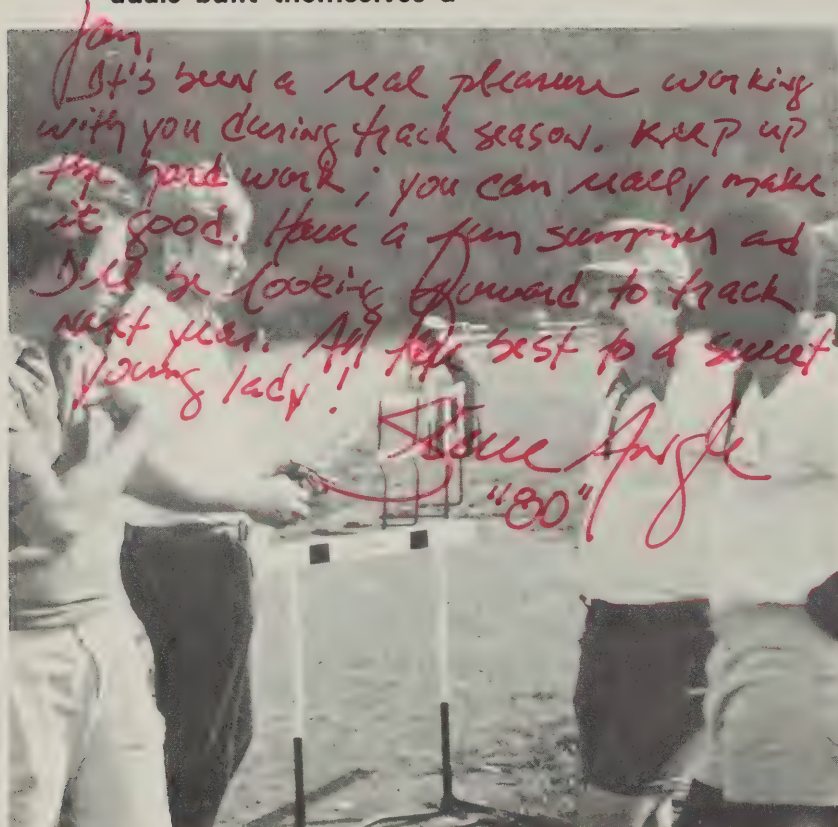

wasn't the greatest, but the team must have done something right. The boys team finished fourth in the district meet and the girls did even better as they finished third. But the best thing accomplished by the track team was the sense of unity they developed.

The 1979 Varsity Girls Track team consisted of Neysa Angle, Bertha Clayborne, Jeanne Corn, Twela Edwards, Lori Foster, Kathy Hammes, Angela Kasey, Sheila Mack, Bonnie Mackenhimier, Bonnie Roop, Gwen Thomas, and Susan Williams.

The Boys team included Bill Brammer, Gordon Coffey, Bill Corn, Jay Cuff, Mike DiLauro, James Haywood, Jimmy Hamilton, Dennis Laury, Marty Olichwier, Greg Robinson, Jeff Stewart, Arthur Tolliver, and Ty Walker.

Running the 880 meter relay, Sheila Mack hands off to Twela Edwards as Coach Steve Angle watches.

Discussing the progress of the team are coaches; Steve Angle, Benny Gibson, Ned Olinger and Harrison Parker.

Beginning the 200 meter dash, Bill Corn and Jay Cuff get off to a good start.

Congratulating Angela Kasey on her mile run is Coach Hattie Farley and some friends; Susan Williams and Twela Edwards.

Sweating it out by running two miles are Jeff Stewart and Bill Brammer.

Finishing the last leg of the mile relay is Shannon Lowe.

Working together in the 880 meter relay, Bertha Clayborne hands off to Bonnie Mackenhiemer.

"... over the mountain and through the woods as the Cross Country team goes..." The Eagles began the season with three home meets. Northside, Cave Spring and Salem gave the Eagles runs for team disappointments. Despite the disappointments of not being able to defend these three teams, the Eagles came alive with their first away meet against North Cross. Aching muscles and unstable breathing brought the Eagles to a 30-26 victory. The team worked hard. Each runner strove for that number one goal, to break the record.

Striving toward the number one goal is Mike Dilauro.

Munch Out

On August 24, 1979, the football team sponsored a barbeque. The team members and their families, all feasted on hamburgers, hotdogs, potato chips, and plenty of ice cold coca-cola-the perfect menu for a hot summer day. Dressed in full uniforms, the members took team pictures and individual shots. Later on the team played Patrick County in a scrimmage game which they tied 0-0. This was a perfect way to start an exciting football season.

Doing Their Best

Many people misunderstand the need for a Freshmen football team. You need to know that Freshmen football is a step ladder to the J. V. team, and if you have the will power, the Varsity team. The Freshmen year is a valuable step in learning the game of football. It prepares you for the type of playing skills you need to be on a Varsity squad.

Although not as closely watched as Varsity, the team practiced every day after school to perfect their playing techniques. Learning various plays was only a part of the day's work. The team practiced passing, kicking, running plays, and how to work together.

After what seemed years of practice, the Freshmen faced their first opponent, a game which ended in a score tied 0-0. The team learned on that first game what it took to be the best - spirit, and lots of hard work.

Although the team had a season's record of 1-3-4, the lessons they learned were more valuable than winning all the games. The team played like winners throughout the season showing their parents, teachers, and school what it took to be number 1.

We are proud of our Freshmen team because of the determination they played with. Not only did they prove Freshmen as people, but they also proved to be people who do their best for everyone.

Picking up 10 extra yards, Tommy Holland plays aggressively.

Struggling fiercely to pick up a few extra yards, Tommy Holland shows great skill and stamina.

Troy Odom, Fourth Row: James Marx, Billy Leffue, Darrel Spencer, Charles McDonald, Jerom Claytor, Lee Hopkins, Brian Fitts, Skip Fitzgerald, Jeff Turner, G.B. Washburn, Keith Holland.

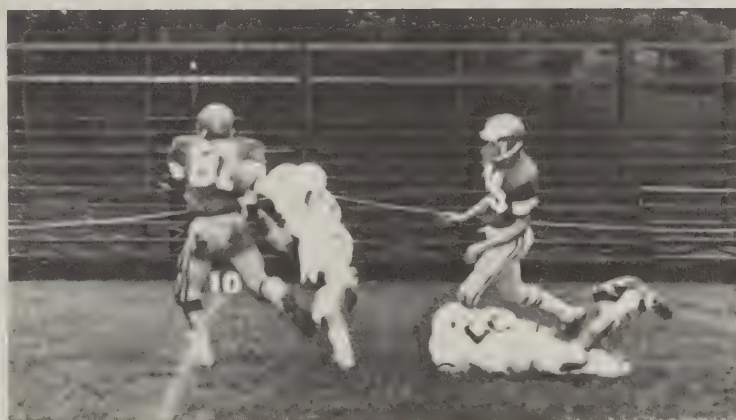

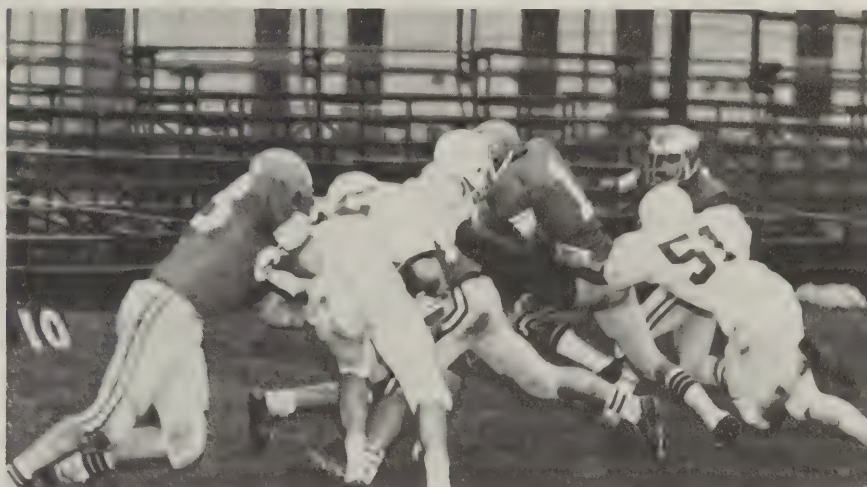

Defeating Martinsville 11 to 8 gave the Junior Varsity Football Team a winning season with a 5-1-1 record. The team had a right to be very proud since they had only lost two games over a two year period of time. This was made possible by much practice and dedication to the game of football.

With a record like tail-back Tommy Holland made, a team could have a chance at winning. He averaged over 70 yards per game rushing. Also Blake Lynch worked the offense precisely.

The offensive line, which did an excellent job in protecting the backs, was made up of Mike Grier, Karl Mize, Darryl Holcomb, Troy Odom, Lewis Green, Brice Beatty, Jeff Turner, Tommy Riddle, H.B. Ingram, and Anthony Robertson.

Doing an outstanding job, the defensive unit gained three shutouts over area schools: Patrick Henry, Cave Spring, and Salem. They only allowed 30 points to be scored and of those no one got into double figures. Junior Varsity '79 will be long remembered.

Putting on the extra pressure, Jeff Turner succeeds for a field goal.

Even though out-numbered two to one, Blake Lynch struggles on.

Bringing the ball down to the ten yard line, Jeff Turner escapes a near tackle.

As one can see, the squad had its full share of injuries.

Eagle Pride Is Still Alive

To say that football season was a big let down is an understatement. After last years team finished with a 6-4 record, everyone had high hopes of another winning season. What they saw was a final record of 0-10.

The season opened with a game against the Bassett Bengals. The excitement generated through the pep rally seemed geared for victory, but the final score was a shut-out of 9-0.

Next on the schedule was Halifax. Fans traveled the many miles to watch the game. With a visitor's side that seated only seventy people and also gave a poor view, most fans watched the game from the fence. It was a long drive home after the Eagles were defeated 24-0. The next two games were postponed because of rain, but the PH game was played in wet weather anyway. Both games turned out to be disappointments as PH defeated the Eagles 22-0 and Northside rallied for a 20-0 shut-out over the Eagles.

A bright spot in the season occurred the next week when the Eagles got on the scoreboard for the first time against the Pulaski County Cougars, but the game was lost anyway with a score of 20-9.

The sixth game of the season was the biggest disappointment of all.

The Cave Spring Knights breezed past the Eagles 47-0. Despite how bad things had been going so far in the season, the true fans never stopped cheering and they tried to show it for the homecoming game. No matter how hard the team tried, it didn't see hard enough as the Eagles fell to Salem 21-0.

The last three games seemed like the same old story. The Eagles were beaten by Martinsville, Heritage and finally William Fleming. The games may have been lost, but some of the players came out winners. Mike LaMaster made the Roanoke Valley District first team as defensive back. Three players Tim Gruver, Tommy Riddle, and Jerry Allen, made the second team.

A 0-10 record certainly did not sound very impressive, but you have to take a closer look at how things really were.

Looking good, Herman Delong takes the queen's seat.

Ready, Willing, And Proud

Practice began in August, a week before school, started for the '79 basketball and volleyball season. The ninth grade teams were getting ready for this year's season. Both teams knew that the season was going to be tough but they were ready and willing to try their best.

The basketball team played well and even though their record wasn't the best, they tried their best. They worked hard by running, practicing lay-ups, and exercising until they were sore and tired. Players thought their work was worthwhile and everyone was hopeful.

Like the old saying goes, "Practice makes perfect". That's what you can say about the ninth grade volleyball team. They practiced hard and played well. The practicing and hard work helped the team have a 9-5 record for the season and a second place in district.

When the season finally ended, a season of hard playing and good games, either wins or losses, the team members were tired and possibly glad that the season was over. But each person was proud that she had been a part of a winning team.

Girls Volleyball Makes Spotlight

Team experience, dedicated players with outstanding individual skills, and a number-one coach earned the volleyball team a winning season.

Having the first game at home gave the team confidence. This confidence grew as the team continued its season.

Players making the spotlight were Wanda Davis and Pam Poindexter both making the first All-District Team. Ebby Beale received honorable mention.

Hodges. Third Row: Coach: Mrs. Humphreys, Sally Foster, Joan Cannaday, Twyla Edwards, Sheila Edwards, Ebby Beale, Coach: Jerry Saleby.

Each team member became a star by being awarded the official FC letters.

Congratulations came in many ways, and when the team coach, Mrs. Barbara Humphreys, was named district coach of the year, everyone was in an elevated state.

Mrs. Humphreys felt that her team was certainly the best in any girls sport and they deserved being spotlighted.

Shooting For The Top

Returning from last year's zero-winning record and losing 3 of the top 6, the girls tennis team knew that they would have to work to come back to a winning season. To get ready for 79/80 season the girls worked very hard during the summer to improve their game by taking lessons and playing in tournaments.

Starting practice in August and playing "challenge matches" every weekend, the girls showed much potential over last year's team and were ready to start their season against one of the top three teams in the District, Cave Spring. Struggling with the disadvantages that rural schools have over the city schools, the team lost 4-5, improving over last year's loss of 0-9.

Another close loss was to the number three, Salem, 4-5 and was tied 'til the last game. During the season the girls had their first shutout of the history of the team against William Fleming, 9-0.

Continuing the good progress throughout the season, the girls tennis team ended fourth in the district. With this victory the team was able to go to their first District Tournament at the Salem Civic Center and played against number one - Patrick Henry in the first round. They lost 2-7 with all matches being close. The third doubles team consisting of Robin Potter and Tammy Cassell and the number six singles player, Tania Finger, won their matches.

The final standing of the top six were (1) Melinda Mack, (2) Susan Akers, (3) Tammy Cassell, (4) Nettie Shearer, (5) Robin Potter, (6) Tania Finger.

At the tennis team banquet held by the members, Seniors Tammy Cassell and Nettie Shearer and Soph. Melinda Mack were recognized for their achievements. Tammy received the "Most Valuable Player" award after winning eight out of ten of her single matches. Nettie received the "Most Sportsmanship" award and Melinda was awarded "Most Improved" after rising from her last years position as number 5 to number 1 this year.

After a successful tennis season coach Flora was voted "Coach of the Year" by the other coaches in the District.

Getting ready for a third doubles match against Pulaski are Captains Robin Potter and Tammy Cassell. They won 8-3.

A New Out Look

The season started with a new coach, Mr. Holbrook, from Florida. He had new ideas and different methods of spotting and doing different moves, which casted a new outlook and hope for the varsity gymnastics team. The Girls practiced everyday with extra practices every Saturday and occasional private lessons on Sundays in Christiansburg. The team practiced hard but never seemed to overcome the years of practice and lessons that the Roanoke Valley girls have had as they finished the season with one win and six losses.

On the floor routines Bertha Clayborne, Melchora Hagy, Maria Powell, and Harriette Cooper all had good routines but suffered many injuries to their wrists and pulled muscles during the season. The Vaulters were Robin Potter, Maria Powell, Sandra Gaubatz, and Bertha Clayborne. They practiced on doing handstands and getting their layout vaults perfect. Competing on the beam for Trenda Carter, Dawn Flora, Bertha Clay-borne, and Tammy Fisher was a great challenge because it takes a lot of coordination and skill. The bars team consisted of Sandra Gaubatz, Robin Potter and Dawn Flora.

This year's girls gymnastic team was a young team with six sophomores, one junior and two seniors. Therefore the hard practices were mandatory for the sophomores since it was their first year on the varsity team.

At the District meet everything seemed to come together as the team gave it everything they had and went through their routines perfectly. Although this was not enough as the team placed fifth. Bertha Clayborne placed eighth on the vault with her fantastic handstand. Since Bertha placed in the top eight, Coach Holbrook has to live up to his bet of shaving his legs if one member of the team placed.

Gymnasts that performed on the uneven parallel bars are Robin Potter, Dawn Flora, and Sandra Gaubatz.

Smiling brightly as she finishes her routine on the floor, Bertha Clayborne is glad she got through her flip-flops.

Striving For Your Goal

Gymnastics and Wrestling require some of the same skills. They both require strength, flexibility, and coordination. They take many hours of hard work and dedication.

The girls on the gymnastics team know about the hard work. Although they didn't have the best record, they gained something just as valuable. Experience.

This year's wrestling team was one of the best. They had a season's record of 6-0 and a first place in district. Six of the members won first place and two won second.

Although these two teams seem like opposites, they had many things in common. The most important one was they tried their best. That was what counted.

Spotlight On Winning

This years Varsity Eagle wrestling team could be compared to a good wine — they improved with age. The year began slowly for the Eagles with a heartbreaking loss to Heritage, but the season ended with a match which the Eagles should have won over the district champion William Fleming Colonels. After the regular season was over, the Eagles competed in the district tournament where they finished fourth — Higher than any previous Eagle squad had placed. There ten red-clad matmen moved on to regional competition (the most of any team in the district) and they equaled the performance of William Fleming's individuals. These hard-working Eagles finished the season with the only winning record of any winter athletic team at FCHS.

The reason for this great success, as in any winning team, is a knowledgeable and devoted coach. Coach Kris Kahila's devotion and persistence, with the help of Coach Spencer Chang, has built up a good ninth grade program, and thus he has bred a winning varsity team. His leadership and knowledge has been greatly appreciated by all of his wrestlers.

Along with Coach Kahila's leadership there came the leadership of this year's seniors. But there are two of this graduating crew who served in a very special manner. They were this years co-captains, David Hodges and Scott Wooden. These two guys gave support when the long hours of practice began to take its toll on everyone.

Although wrestling may appear to be a weird sport, it is one which requires more self-discipline, persistence, and devotion than any other high school sport. However, there is less recognition for this individualized sport than any other form of athletic competition. Because of this misunderstanding wrestling matches lack the support and spectators which they deserve.

Have you ever noticed what goes into a basketball game? It takes many hours of practicing for a team to become great. This year's team practiced those long hours and they were a great team.

In the district tournament, the Eagles were defeated by Northside 52-46. The ninth grade team finished their season with a 10-5 record which put them in the third place in district.

At the end of the season, the coach was asked about the team's abilities. The highest point averages belonged to Greg Smith with 14 points per game, Tim Cuff with 13, and Rodney Helms having a 12 point average.

The leading rebounder for the team was Glenn McCrickard. The floor leader was Todd Parcell. These five made up the first string, but the other members were also good. This team was truly great.

Shooting the ball, Glenn McCrickard adds 2 more points against Cave Spring.

Basketball

In The Varsity's Shadow

Although the J.V. basketball team didn't receive near as much attention as the varsity, their season record certainly didn't show it. Finishing with a 12-8 record they out-did even the varsity team.

The team started the season on a good foot as they won over Carroll County, Oak Hill, and Heritage. The second time around, however, the J.V.'s lost to Heritage.

District competition opened with a win over the Northside Vikings, but a week later the team fell to a powerful William Fleming team. After that the games seemed to follow a pattern. The Eagles would win one and then lose one. They won over Heritage again and lost to Cave Spring. Next came a victory against Salem and the second loss to William Fleming. The pattern continued with games against Pulaski, Patrick Henry, Northside, and Cave Spring. Two victories in a row over Salem and Oak Hill broke the pattern a little. Next followed a loss to William Fleming and a win over Pulaski. Despite a more enthusiastic crowd at the team's last game, they lost to a tough Patrick Henry squad.

The J.V. team has already proven that they have a good start in following the winning reputation of the Varsity Eagles.

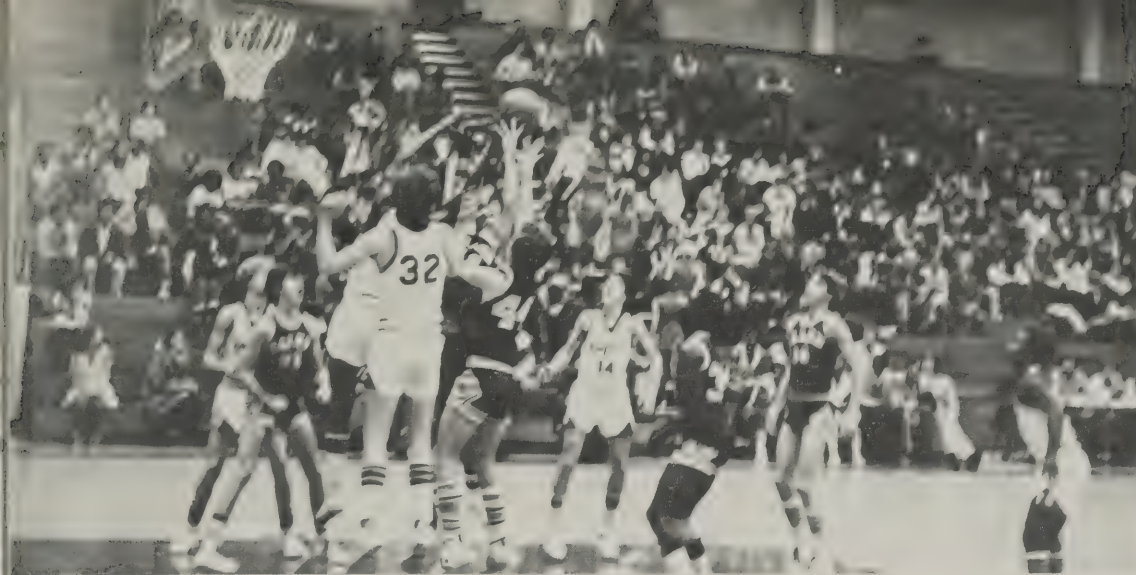

Although the fans may not have always done their best for the team, the team always did their best for the fans.

MORE THAN JUST AN AVERAGE TEAM

What did it take to make a crowd go absolutely wild? It certainly took more than an average basketball team, although a season record of 10-12 sounds fairly average. The 1979-1980 boys varsity basketball team was anything but average. They were special and no team could ever take that away from them.

Hopes were high for the Eagles as they opened the season with a win over Lafayette. The next three games, however, turned out to be disappointments as the team fell to Bethel, Oak Hill, and Heritage. The next time around with Heritage the Eagles came out victorious. A few more wins and a few more losses left the team with a 3-5 record as Christmas break began.

When playing resumed after Christmas the Eagles looked good with wins over Cave Spring, Salem, and William Fleming. After losses to Pulaski and Patrick Henry came victories over Northside and Cave Spring.

With two games remaining in the season, the Eagles held second place in the district. The team and the fans were counting on defeating Pulaski County. The gym was packed and some said it was the best showing of school spirit since 1972. Despite the overwhelming support, the Eagles fell 54-48, but the Pulaski County Cougars won't soon forget the school with the horrible hats.

Another enthusiastic crowd showed up for the last game of the regular season against Patrick Henry. The team fought hard, but lost to the Patriots 63-60.

We're Proud Of Our Team

In the opening night of the district tournament the Eagles defeated William Fleming 47-39 to put them in the semi-finals against PH.

Everyone was hoping that the dream of revenge would come true after last year's upsetting loss to the Patriots in the finals. It only seemed fair that we should be the ones to rob P.H. of their title, but unfortunately it wasn't to be. The Eagles lost to P.H. 49-40.

Of course, the season was far from disappointing. The fans were proud of their team and they had good reasons to be. Team captains Mordon Preston and Mike Hudson averaged in double figures the entire season, and in the district scoring race Mordon was rated second. The seniors will be greatly missed next year, but the Eagles tradition of winning basketball teams will never end.

Maintaining his balance is Mordon Preston.

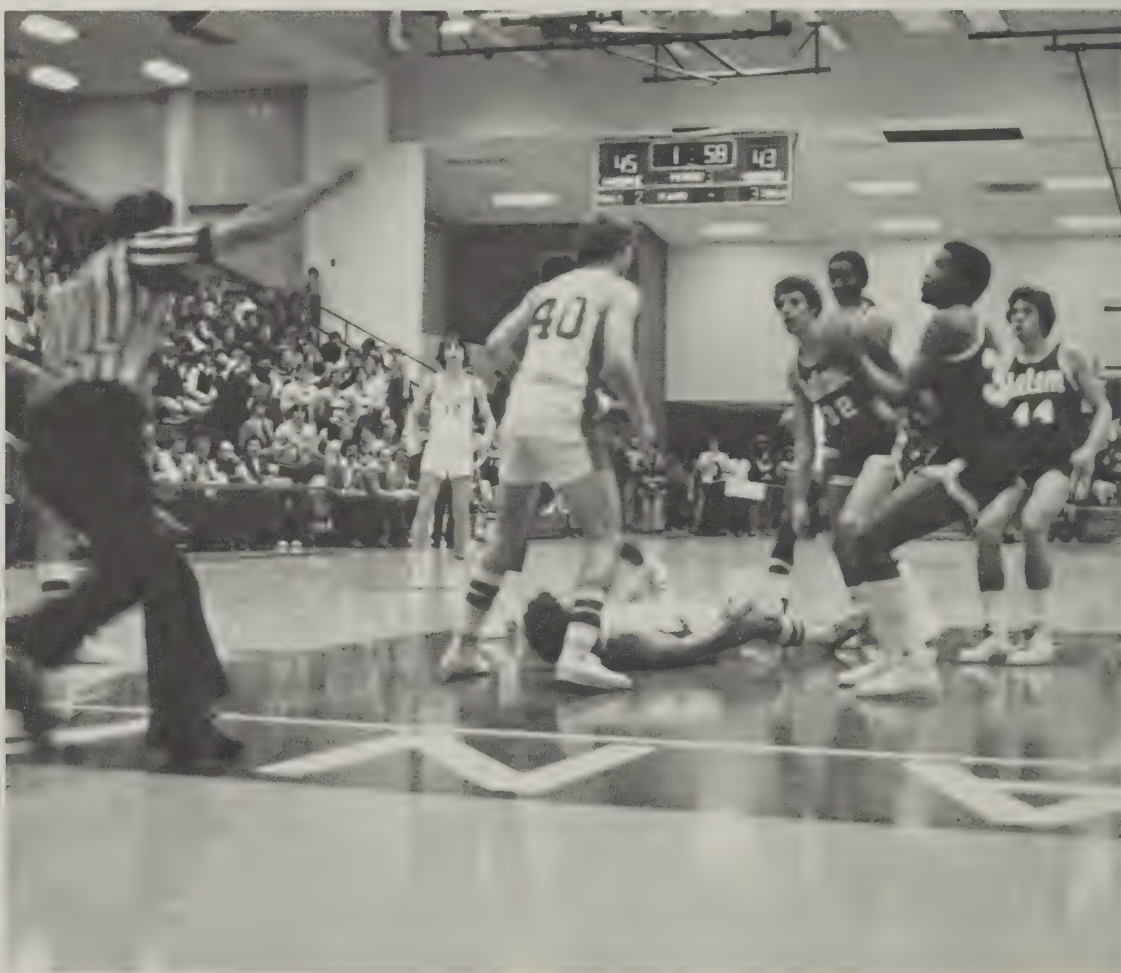

Battling for the ball with a Heritage player is Mordon Preston.

Getting fouled is Dan Boone as Eagles maintain edge.

A Year Of Experience

Experience as improvement were the most important things gained by the members of the girls varsity basketball team. The record of 3-9 doesn't begin to tell about the hours of hard work and dedication, and it doesn't tell about the girls quality of never giving up. Under the coaching of Karen Hickman, the team strove to be the best they could be and it showed as they improved with each game. The scores got closer and two of the teams three wins occurred near the end of the season.

Although the two starting seniors, Twela Edwards and Bonnie Mackenhimer will be missed next year, there will still be several experienced players returning.

Maybe the scores didn't make the team look like winners, but they certainly worked hard enough to be winners.

Working Hard To Keep

Cheerleading was a time-consuming and hard-working activity. But the sheer excitement and thrill of attending games let any cheerleader know that her hard work was all worthwhile. Cheerleaders stayed behind their team even when they were losing. They never gave up. They were there, and they let the team know they cared.

Making posters, practicing every Monday (and other days if necessary), going to as many games of every sort as possible, making cookies, and remembering team members on holidays encompassed only a few of the endless things a cheerleader did. Being on a cheer squad promoted personal growth.

Trying to get the audience in a spirited mood, the cheerleaders show their enthusiasm.

The Teams Psyched-Up

Each year at cheer camp, cheerleaders went through rigorous daily schedules knowing all along that the coming night would bring competition against other squads. The long and hard work at cheer camp was rewarded with blue ribbons. Cheerleaders almost went crazy when the winners were announced. Going home, the squad was exhausted, happy, and satisfied!

The bus rides, the games, the secret pals, the big sisters, the sponsors and the parties will be among the memories.

But the memories in the spotlight were those moments when cheerleaders were psyching up the players. That was what it was all about.

Homecoming '79

Homecoming activities always seem to highlight the fall, and Homecoming '79 was no exception. Although the football team hadn't shown too much promise so far, most of us still had high hopes of defeating the Salem Spartans.

Spirits weren't very high at Thursday night's bonfire, but the pep rally on Friday was a great success. Many of us found ourselves slightly hoarse before the game even started.

Things went well for the parade with the exception of a minor accident on the freshman float.

The game, however, was a different story. With less than two minutes to play the Spartans were winning 21-0. It looked like another shut-out for the Eagles. But then we got the break we needed and made a miraculous touchdown. The cheers from the home crowd drowned out those of Salem even after the clock had run out.

Although we had come out on the short end of the scoreboard the game wasn't a total loss.

Pam Saxon was announced Homecoming Queen and Bobby Fralin was voted Mr. Football.

The dance had been anticipated by excited students all week, but it turned out to be a big disappointment. The band was confused by directions and had gone to Rocky Mount, North Carolina.

To say the least, Homecoming could have been much better, but then again it could have been a lot worse.

Looking concerned, the cheerleaders sympathize for their injured quarterback Noel Yates.

A Year Of New Beginnings

After many long hard hours of practice and many changes, the Percussion perfected their feature solo "Spain".

The Homecoming parade was one of many in which the band participated.

The Franklin County High School Band has undergone a year of tremendous changes and transitions in 1979-'80. The 100 members began their training and planning in mid-August with an invigorating week of band camp in the mountains of West Virginia. Out of this came weeks and months of after school and Saturday rehearsals, leading up to what was an interesting and often elusive contest circuit.

Early in the season the band performed at the Buena Vista Band Day where they placed fourth. The following week promised much stiffer competition as the band placed sixth among some of the finer bands in a two-state area at the Old Dominion Dixie Classic in Danville. A month of anxiety then ensued, climaxing with the Trojan Invitational at Tunstall High School. On this occasion the band returned victorious with four first place awards (best band, drum major, flag corps and rifle corps) and a magnificent trophy for being "Best Band of the Day."

The marching season in the fall came to a close with the biggest contest held on the east coast of the United States — the Marching Bands of America Eastern Regionals Competition at James Madison University in Harrisonburg. The FCHS Band showed their usual excellence in performance within what was an exciting trip to be remembered by all.

The band is under the new directorship of Mr. Leonard Crocker. He is assisted by his wife, Mrs. Kathy Crocker (flags).

Laughter and tears were heard and seen by all after the band won in Tunstall.

The band was always on hand to play the fight song and show their spirit.

Jan
The years been long
but our rock bands got me through. I guess youve
had a pretty wild time being one of those nasty little freshmen but at least it wasnt as bad as me - being one for 2 years. Hope to see you some this summer - Hd.

The field leadership of the band is by that of drum major Mike McCall, flag captain Ann Love, rifle captains Mindy Brown and Sandi Jennings and drum captain Doug McComsey. The Bands Boosters Club, an integral and necessary part of the FCHS band program, is headed this year by Mrs. Sue Cooper, President.

Drum Major Mike McCall led the band with complete dedication to the music and members.

San,
I really glad I got to know you this year. I hope you're on the track team next year too. Maybe I'll get lucky and have some classes with you next year. Have a super summer and good luck in your future.

Much time and talent went into the building of the Latin Club's float for the homecoming parade.

Belonging to a club often seemed to take the monotony away from the school day. After a day full of the hassles of school work, it was nice to enjoy the activities clubs offered.

Vocational club members involved themselves in a successful sale of candy bars . . . The choir, along with the Junlor class held a Halloween carnival . . . The Spanish Club took part in its annual banquet . . . The Latin Club grew larger and more active . . . The Varsity Club remained highest in status . . . Several people came out to support our local firemen in the FBLA's Rock - A - Thon . . .

No one got more out of a club than he/she put into it, but all agreed that it was well worth the effort for the enjoyment and learning experiences that clubs gave us.

Town's people Sherrie Grenier and Mike Reed await to go on stage.

Mourning is Debbie Dingledine as her lover Chuck Pace has died.

Getting ready to go on stage are Rebecca Ingram and Julie Garst assisted by Mrs. Bandy.

Acting Is For Fun

Prompting an actor to choke his wife is Jimmy Ferguson.

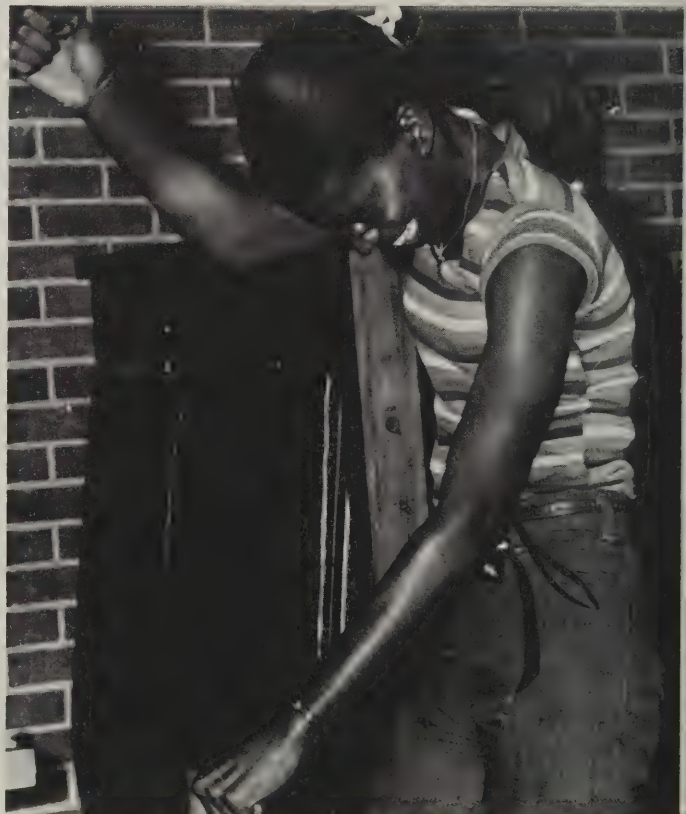

Villagers Keith Strickler, Julie Garst, and Rebecca Ingram look on as play continues.

The Drama Club and its members often found themselves in the spotlight, either on their school stage performing for the student body, friends, and family or at state competition. Last year the Drama Club and sponsor, Mrs. Bandy, went to state competition, which is the highest achievement a student production can acclaim, for the second year in a row. The Drama Club's play "The Red Velvet Goat," gave students experience in all areas of theater.

This year Student Director Wendy Foard and Assistant Student Director, Phyllis Martin will be working with a new sponsor, Mrs. Topel, for the first student production of the year, "A Case for Two Detectives."

Having a good time, Selina Colston, Debra Powell, and Sheila Edwards clown around and have a few laughs.

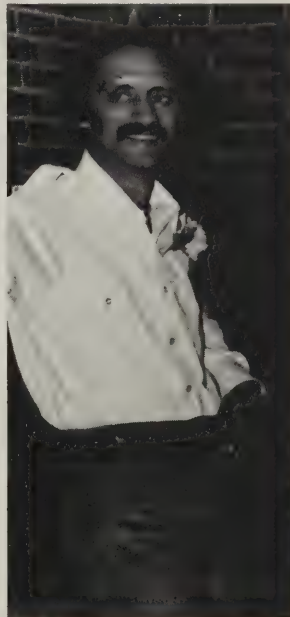

With ribbons all around, Sheila Edwards shows that she can be just like a Christmas tree.

Making up new dances can be as fun to the dancer as they are to the audience or at least Selina Colston thinks so.

Every yearbook needs a consultant and ours is Mr. Joe Hamrick.

The Making Of Memories

Producing a yearbook takes much time, determination, dedication, and creativity, which the members of the Animo staff prove to themselves and hopefully to the students when they receive their annuals.

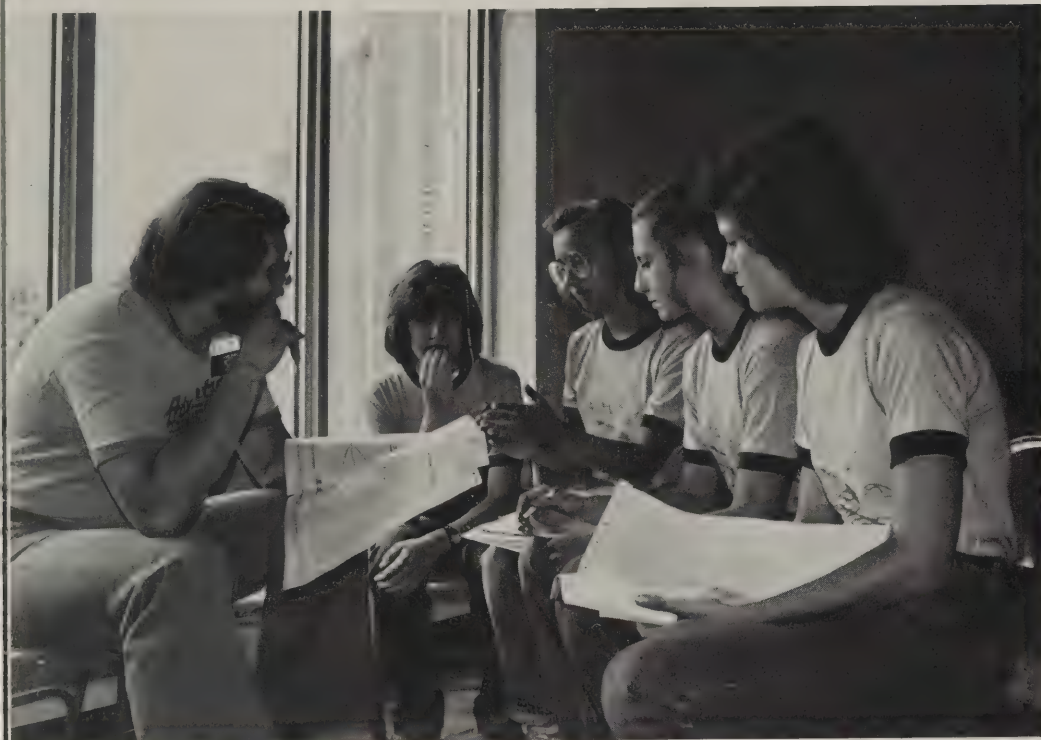

After being selected to be on the yearbook staff, members begin working. They sell ads and attend Josten's Summer Workshop before the school year even begins. After school starts members find themselves running around trying to get those special pictures. They work after school, before school, during lunch and at home to get their layouts just right to meet a deadline.

Being on the yearbook staff is not all work though. The staff has some fun moments like going to Pizza Inn, cookouts, summer workshop, and participating in the Homecoming Parade. And there is always a special Christmas Party at G.D. Grafetti's.

So remember, when spring comes the hard work that it took to turn those special moments into memories you will treasure forever.

Spotlighting The Learned

The Forensics club of '79 started work in early February to determine who the district participants would be. The district meet was held in the William Fleming High School. Franklin County came home with a win by placing six out of a possible eighteen places.

Next came the regional meet held on March 10 which was also won by Franklin County.

The state meet was held in Charlottesville on March 24. Although F.C.H.S. didn't win, they had certainly come a long way.

Acting as a voice for the student body, the SCA was always ready to listen to suggestions and then pass them on to the administration. They also led the student body in numerous activities. Everyone looked forward to the homecoming events. Nights were spent getting floats ready for the parade around town. The SCA stayed busy scheduling every detail to make the parade just a little better than the year before, and it usually was. But they didn't just handle the parade; they were responsible for the half-time ceremonies. The ballots for the homecoming courts had to be distributed, collected and then counted. It was an exciting, action packed evening at the homecoming game.

"Have you sold any magazines?", was a constant question when the SCA got the magazine sales into full swing. They did so by having several plans to get a larger amount of the student body interested in the sales. As a promotion, they rewarded the high salesperson of the day with a dip into the fishbowl filled with money. But it wasn't all fun and games for the SCA. Money had to be counted; prizes had to be issued; it was much confusion but somehow and somehow, they kept things organized and going in the right direction. Up!

Developing Leadership

The Distributive Education Club of America was an organization whose program of leadership and personal development was designed especially for students enrolled in D.E. The program of instruction was marketing, merchandising, and management.

The DECA chapter was the showcase for student achievement and progress. Through its activities, students with an interest in marketing and distribution were attracted to the D.E. program. The Franklin County chapter planned activities which included social, civic, professional, and benevolent projects. D.E. members also adopted projects which provided for school and community improvement.

Through active participation in local, state, and national activities, DECA members developed a better understanding of the business world. They also became conscious of their civic world and the social need to develop social poise and leadership ability.

The purposes of DECA were symbolized by the four points of the diamond which stand for Vocational Understanding, Civic Consciousness, Leadership Development, and Social Intelligence.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes stands as a beacon or a spotlight for those seeking to grow in faith.

Being joyous at a 7:00 breakfast isn't easy, but when you are doing it to increase your Faith, it is much easier. To rise at 4:30 A.M. to meet rides and then drive to Roanoke for breakfasts, this takes a zeal for searching into what life is all about. The many memorable activities that FCA have done include a Spring Campout in search of faith, the FCA Choir singing at the Christmas Breakfast and meeting the Virginia Tech. football players.

The many things that the Fellowship of Christian Athletes have done, the experiences that they have shared, and the ideas that they have held, will not be forgotten. For they have stood, and they shall stand on.

The Varsity club as well as FCA share their many experiences. They share their moments of triumph as well as their moments of defeat, in order that they may build paths for future athletes to make the spotlight.

Romance Languages

To many, Latin may sound boring, but to the members of the Latin club it is as exciting as it is unique. The members of the Latin club share many exciting experiences such as building and riding a float in the Homecoming Parade, singing Latin and English Christmas Carols at Eldercare followed by a Christmas party at Coegemus Bezy's house, taking the National Mythology test, and attending the Latin Convention in Roanoke.

The members of the Latin club all share an interest in common, an interest in learning about a classical language, and the mythology that is part of its heritage, and a hope to become leaders of the learned in the future.

Members of the Spanish Club study this modern language in order to set up a solid foundation for the Spanish language in all situations. The members of the Spanish club use the basic essentials of grammar and vocabulary that they learn to produce fun and educational learning experiences such as performing a Spanish production in the Spring foreign language banquet, having a "Break the Pinata party", and planning an outing to a Mexican restaurant.

The Spanish club has a Foreign Exchange Student, Ricardo Racines, from Panama, who serves as a club officer.

Joining the French Club extended students interests in the Romance language spoken in Paris. This extension was necessary when some students became tourists and Europe was their destination. To visit France was a spotlight in living.

Other activities included eating at the exclusive French restaurant, La Maison, in Roanoke. This was a test for reading a menu and knowing what was being eaten from a Frenchman's point of view. Also, a special occasion was the Foreign Language banquet a modern "Babel". Everyone learned from the experience and the food was deliciously delectable.

Being in the French Club made a foreign culture come alive to interested members.

Being in the National Honor Society was much more than being intelligent. It was having the leadership, outstanding personality, and a common interest in school activities that were a part of this unique group.

Throughout the year, members of the National Honor Society staged many important events. In the fall senior members and officers began work on their major project, the screening, tapping and initiation of new members. During the year the National Honor Society also undertook another major job of collecting the many needed pints of blood from students, teacher, and staff.

This year was an exciting year for Co-Ed Hi-Y in that it was the first year of its existence at F.C.H.S. Members welcomed the opposite sex into the club gladly, because they were all working towards the same goals. Members also elected Kelly Herrick, a guy, as their first president.

The motto of Co-Ed Hi-Y, "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of the Christian way of life." To carry out their motto, the club was involved in a number of community services. Their major project in the fall was entertaining at Franklin Manor. At Christmas the club gave a party at the Education Center. Another planned event was attending the Model General Assembly in the spring. With these and other activities the Co-Ed Hi-Y was able to maintain their motto and live up to and beyond their ideals.

Publisher Of The Eagle

"The Eagle" not only reported items of school interest, but also published articles dealing with the school's interaction with the community. Stories were written about a variety of things: sports actions, the FCHS self-study, new books in the library, cheerleading, Homecoming, Prom 1980, the County Board of Supervisors' Candidates, and the campus litter problem. The paper included satire, editorials, letters to the Editor, sports articles, and student features.

"The Eagle" Staff included: Erica Davis, Editor; Phyllis Martin, Assistant Editor; Mark Haynie, Circulation Manager; Lisa Walker, Asst. Circulation Manager; Kelly Herrick, Advertising Manager; Denise Hudson, Business Manager; Robyn Mason, Layout Manager; Kenny Amos, Wendy Foard, Diana Lane, Cartoonists; Patti Norton, Sports Editor; David Robertson, Jennie Hodges, Tera Haynie, Photographers; Kelly Spencer, Teresa Perdue, Kelley Roop, Scott Foard, Rachel Pruitt, Tony Holland, Annette Huston, Steve Brown, and Donna Blankenship, Staff Writers; and Mrs. J. Bateman, Sponsor.

Future Homemakers of America is the national organization for both boys and girls taking Home Ec. in high school. The main objective of the club was to help individual members improve their personal, family, and community living. Through organized groups and individual activities, students achieved this factor.

Future homemakers became aware of the importance of their roles as homemakers and of the need to make wise decisions to prepare them for the future.

Some purposes of FHA were: to promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking, to work for good home and family life for all, to encourage democracy in the home and community, to provide wholesome individuality and group recreation, to promote international good will, and to further interest in Home Ec.

FHA officers spent many time-consuming hours planning activities for the year. There were cooking demonstrations, a Christmas Tea, a fashion show, and a FHA-Home Ec. Festival. The "festival" gave students a chance to show their talents. Some had made quilts, af-gans, pillows, and canned goods. Also, there was a candy sale in which club members sold "Oh Henry" candy bars. With 160 members, this club put in hard work, so that each member would be ready for things to come.

Taking Care Of Business

Future Business Leaders of America is a part of the vocational program. Members of the club are enrolled in the business classes.

Having 233 members, the club is able to carry out many projects under the leadership of all of the business teachers and the club officers. In early fall the club had a successful candy - bar sale. Everywhere you turned in the halls, cafeteria, and classrooms it seemed that you would see an "Oh Henry" being sold or eaten. Also in the fall, the yearly Rock - a - Thon was held. The proceeds from that event went to area fire departments.

At Christmas time, club members were visited by Santa during a Christmas Tea. Santa gave gifts of ink pens, bumper stickers, and membership cards.

Other activities included clean - up projects, scholastic contests, and a talent show. The FBLA was more than fun and activities. It made students more aware of today's business world and what will be expected of them. How to get that almighty dollar and how to get the most out of it keeps the business world going.

Learning Through Club Experiences

Working along with teachers, members of the FTA Club experienced more of what the job of teaching is all about. They came to appreciate the many facets of a teacher's job.

The FTA participated in many activities. Each member was assigned to a teacher to help that teacher in whatever way he/she could. This was a way to learn if one dared to train for such a complicated job.

The club visited a college during the year to take a look at requirements for teaching. Also, at Christmas time, club members spread a blt of cheer at the Sheltered Workshop.

Being in the FTA increased students' awareness of what it takes to be a teacher. Their ideas about the educational system were expanded. Most of the members looked forward to a career in teaching.

The NAACP Youth Council is a service and civic organization. It is a new club which has already grown to 55 members.

Projects for the club included a Financial Aid Workshop, a Test Taking Workshop, and a Christmas Banquet. A very special event was attending the Broadway Musical, Babes in Toyland. Also important was the Regional Conference in Washington, D.C., where the club found answers to many questions.

Half - Time Actions

As one of the squad members put it: "I joined the Pom - Pom squad because I wanted to support the school's activities, and felt it was a good way to participate."

As another member put it: "I tried out for Pom-Poms because I wanted to support the team - and just to see if I was good enough to make the squad."

The purpose of the Pom-Pom squad is to entertain at half time at the varsity basketball games, and to support the cheerleaders.

A typical practice consists of a business meeting, practicing old and new steps, and perfecting the routines.

The outfit is a red jumper with white inserts. Throughout the year, other accessories were added to help complete the habit.

In Webster's Collegiate Dictionary,

the verb perform has several synonyms: to execute, accomplish, achieve, and fulfill. All of these and more were felt by the Pom - Pom Squad.

After performing together for a year, the squad grew close to one another. At Christmas there was a party for the exchanging of 'Secret Pal' gifts, and at the end of the season a Pizza party was thrown, with the presentation of special awards.

Timing and rhythm were a must to make a perfect routine.

With good form, Pam Reynolds and Mary Bonds keep the action going Kicking up their heels, Tracy Kelly and captain Penny Witcher keep the rhythm going.

With a gleam in her eye, Patti Norton moves with the music.

Rhythm was just part of the perfection needed to keep the flow of the pom - poms perfect.

Waiting for the beat of the music Nancy Santrock looks happily into the audience.

Adding cheer to their routine, Marlene Church and Patricia Nichols smile to the audience.

Learning A Marketable Skill

The members of the VICA club are students from the classes of cosmetology, drafting, electricity, industrial cooperative training, auto mechanics, and masonry. Members of this club and these classes are students who are interested in advancing their knowledge of a marketable skill.

The members of the VICA club challenged their skills at district, state, national, and international competitions throughout the year. In these competitions the students had a chance to prove what they had learned and show their pride in vocations.

As the VICA club members continue to put out their best efforts they will be able to enter the business world with a skill that will give them a living wage. And that is necessary part of education - to be able to know how to make enough money to live honestly and honorably.

FFA Kept Members Busy

Being in the FFA was a good way to win a place in the spotlight during the school year. There were always contests to enter with prizes to be awarded. These Contests went from the local level to the national level.

The first contest on the Federation level in which the local FFA participated was the forestry contest. The club was proud of its winners.

Other contests included public speaking, tractor driving, and dairy judging. Being a winner was important, so members worked hard.

The "car wash" day was a busy day. Thanks to the FFA, faculty members could ride home in clean cars. The monies from this day were given to the Junior Rescue Squad.

Also, many members were involved with state and national conventions in Blacksburg and Kansas City.

The FFA enjoyed having Ricardo Ranea as their guest as an Exchange Student from Panama. He was sponsored by the FFA, and became a spotlight member of the organization.

Another person the FFA took pride in was their female member, Vicky Haddock. Vicky was one of the few girls to see the need of FFA. She was very active in all of the activities, so much so that she was given the honor of serving as a club officer.

This club was truly a spotlight club with all its interests and activities.

Unity. The dictionary defines it as a state of being one. Despite the fact that our student body and faculty were very large, we were all united as one in a very special way.

As we grew, changed, and learned throughout the year we became closer.

Unity was found in various activities.

Most students shared the same opinion about classes and homework-they were all a lot of work. Of course, teachers also had their share of hassles from school work, but both students and teachers gained a great deal of knowledge from each other.

Students who shared similar hobbies and interests were brought together through the different clubs offered.

Both students and faculty found a very real sense of unity through sports, because at games everyone was there for the same purpose, to cheer the team on.

Although F.C.H.S. was made up of many different personalities, we were always "One for all and all for One."

Administration

After becoming so familiar to so many people by working in one school division for fifteen years, it was with feelings of apprehension and anticipation that I accepted the principalship of Franklin County High School where all were strangers to me. Soon my apprehension was replaced by assurance as I was warmly accepted by the students, staff, and citizens of the area. The welcome I received made me realize that I had made the right decision in accepting the challenge that the position at Franklin County High School provides.

My contention is that a school is as good as its students and faculty. The special people who make up the school — students, teachers, and other personnel — make it a strong school.

I consider it an honor and a privilege to be charged with the responsibility of working with so many wonderful people. It is my hope that every decision I make to effect these people will be in the best interest of our primary business — that of teaching and learning.

Having as its primary function, the English Department tried to educate students in the use of language skills. The teachers conveyed knowledge in grammar and literature to every student. And in turn, the students strived to perfect their capacities in reading, vocabulary, spelling, and punctuation.

An English teacher who spent her career life helping students in their language skills was Mrs. Mary Layman. She retired this past year. Mrs. Layman started her teaching at Callaway, but in 1959 she transferred to Franklin County High School. Hopefully, Mrs. Layman now has time to spend doing whatever she wishes rather than making lesson plans to meet the needs of others.

The Senior Class Of 1980 - From

Finally the year for the Class of '80 has arrived. It has been twelve long years of learning, disappointments, and fun. We have advanced from our building blocks to our diplomas. During this time we have done a lot of "growing-up." We have learned how to cope with problems, make our own decisions and we have made friends with many new people.

As we look back there are always the memories of standing in the halls talking to friends, Homecoming, Prom, Class rings, the Minute Market, Pep rallies, water fights . . . They all made our Years at FCHS better and more exciting.

The people that will be remembered as the leaders of this "wild and crazy" class were their officers. They tried to get "special privileges" for the seniors, raised money for the class gift, and organized the class trip to Busch Gardens. But these things couldn't have happened without their devoted Sponsor, Jo Foley. Her leadership as sponsor has been greatly appreciated by all the seniors.

Raising money for the Senior Class and increasing school spirit by selling pompoms are officers Rose Finney and Robin Potter.

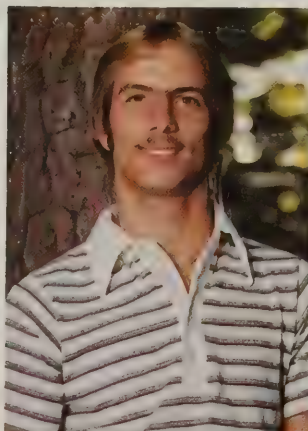

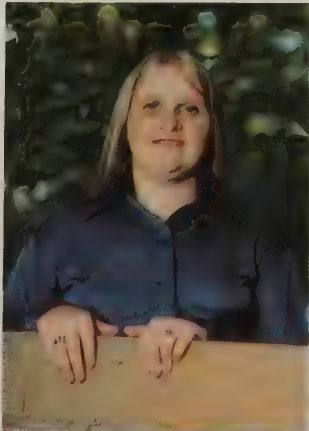

Helping out around the school are Sharon Guilliams and V-Pres. Eric Ferguson.

Consulting each other on the supplies needed are sponsor Jo Foley and Pres. Sara Parcell.

Most School Spirit

Rah, Rah, Rah! That is not all that represents spirit. Supporting the school's activities - all of them - is what spirit is all about. Rhonda Garrett and Kelly Herick do just that. Their positive attitudes about the school are what make the seniors vote them the award of "most school spirit." Kelly feels that FCHS has much to offer the students. He has been involved in sports, drama, and student government. Rhonda has been a cheerleader for five years keeping school spirit alive.

Most Polite

Seeing people happy is important to Ebby Beale. She treats people the way she wants to be treated, so politeness comes natural for her. Because she is interested in people, Ebby plans to major in psychology. She likes to watch the world of actors and observe their interesting ways.

Another senior, Daniel Boone, won the polite award with much surprise to him. His politeness is also so natural that even he did not realize that anyone would notice. Daniel will be remembered also for his participation in football and basketball.

We Liked Being

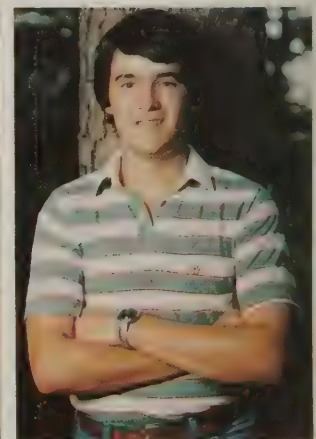

Most Outspoken

Saying it like it is comes naturally for Danny Mitchell and Gina Dudley. Although Danny does not know why he was chosen as the most outspoken, he accepts it as a way to be remembered. His nickname "cotton top" could have been a help. Any cotton top is outspoken. Danny works on his father's tobacco farm. For hobbies he likes riding motorcycles and going hunting. Having four brothers probably helps Danny find much to talk about. Gina enjoys life and her laughs can be heard above the noise of the crowd. Her work at Winn-Dixie gives her much to say.

Most Typical

What is a typical Senior? Study Carolyn Chitwood and Mark Ellis and you may come up with what the senior class thought were typical representations of themselves. Carolyn has been a cheerleader for five years which shows how much she likes sports. She is also a member of the National Honor Society. Mark was a member of the Eagle band during grades 8-11. His hobbies include water skiing and hunting. He plans to attend a Trade School and then move on to bigger and better things. Isn't that the dream of the typical senior?

Most Studious

Would a load of books earn the title of "most studious"? Linda Woody said so, but she is being modest. It was an honor she was awarded because she is among the top ten seniors in scholarship. She enjoys reading, playing the piano, and working in 4-H. Mike Brown was also voted most studious among the boys. He says he is a "procrastinator", but the habit does not seem to hurt him. He hopes to make a career in medicine. Other of Mike's interests include his memberships in NHA, FCA.

Most Dependable

When the chips are down and everyone wants to quit, there are two seniors, Robin Potter and Jimmy Ferguson, who can still be depended upon. Robin proved her dependability in many phases of school life. Spending hours and hours on the senior section of the ANIMO will always be remembered. When you look at that section, think of her late hours, tears, and ingenuity used to make her classmates proud. Also, Jimmy will be remembered for helping his teammates through many rough spots.

Most Likely To Succeed

What did seniors look for when they voted for the most likely to succeed? For Rose Marie Finney, seniors could observe one whose life has been filled with activities and hobbies. Her hobbies include playing the flute and the piano. In addition to her musical hobbies, she also enjoys politics. She worked on the platform at the State Democratic Convention, and she has been a student worker in the Virginia General Assembly.

Eric Ferguson has also worked in the Virginia General Assembly serving as page and bill room attendant. He has shown other interests in politics through working for the Franklin County Young Democrats.

Beth Rose and Eric are ambitious. Would you consider one of them for the White House?

Being popular shows that you are known by most everyone. Morden Preston and Wanda Davis have shown their abilities to such an extent that the seniors voted them most popular. Morden is known through his good moves in basketball and his handling of the gavel when he serves as Student Body President. Wanda is known for her volleyball skills and her special talent in art. These two people will stand out in memories long after graduation. FCHS will miss them for they have made special contributions to the school.

Biggest Clown

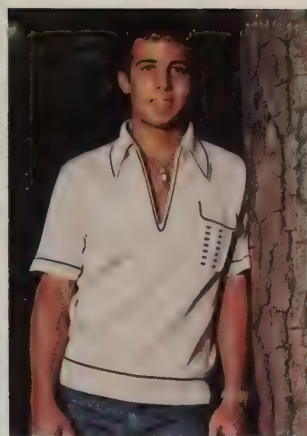

"All the world loves a clown." Being crazy people comes naturally for Tim McGuire and Wendy Foard. Tim says he cannot prevent being the spirited person that he is. Tim hopes to make a career in music. His singing and playing the drums will be remembered. He also played the "spoons" like a professional. Do you suppose Wendy stays on those crutches just to be funny? In spite of them, she has made many contributions to her school.

Most Bashful

Getting information from the most bashful wasn't easy. Jackson Green reluctantly gave some facts about his life. With hobbies like coin collecting, knife collecting, and Indian artifact collecting, he does not need too many other interests. Jackson plans a career in medical research. The University of Virginia will be getting an outstanding senior, and they will probably never know that he is bashful. Also being voted the most bashful was Reba Bateman. She finds that working with patients at the local hospital helps her control being bashful. She plans a career in nursing.

Spotlighting The Juniors

Class rings, P.S.A.T.'s, Term papers, and Prom. These were all a part of that great junior year and every junior knew something about at least one of these things and many juniors knew about all of them.

Ordering class rings was an elating experience for the junior class. Many found it hard to afford the rising prices of gold and silver, but somehow found a way to get their rings. Receiving the class ring was a great experience; you couldn't wait to show it off to everyone. They came in all sizes and shapes - anything from the feminine dinner ring to the jumbo masculine ring. In honor of the junior class and the class rings, there was a Ring Dance. By getting your class ring you could now say to the world "I am an upper-classman!"

Also P.S.A.T.'s were taken by many juniors to help decide their futures. Do you remember getting up on that early Saturday morning in October to go take them in the west cafeteria? The closer the time got to passing out the test, the faster your heart beat, and you wished you were back home in bed or watching your favorite cartoons. But before you knew it they were taking the test up, and the only thing left to do was to wait anxiously for the results. When the results did come back you ran to see your guidance counselor, and if your test results weren't what you expected, then the only thing left to do was to hope to do better on the S.A.T.'s.

The junior year was also the year of the term paper. Many hours were spent in the library to arrange material plus other hours were used to work at home. You know those hours when you could have been watching "Saturday Night Live" or "The Waltons." The worst part of it all was waiting to see what your grade was. And then to receive it and watch that big "A" you were waiting for all year vanish right before your eyes, or when you did get an "A", you would smile and say how easy it was.

But Prom was the biggest social event of the whole year.

Being in the Homecoming Parade was exciting for the Junior class officers: Wes Prillaman, Debra Carter, Patti Whalen, and Michele Matherly. The drivers are Carlton Hodges and Richard Johnson.

Studying is typical for Reggie Sink and Wanda Whitlow.

Spending time in the library, Sandra Childress and Elaine Stovall wait for the ending lunch period.

Enjoying good fellowship, Donna Tyree, Sheila Edwards, Neta Spencer, and Mary Preston forget the ringing bell.

Part-time Pleasure

Modeling for Heironimus in Roanoke keeps Gina Rhodes busy. She likes the job although it was somewhat scary at first.

Now she finds that there is not enough time to be scared because she has to rush from outfit to outfit.

Gina models with girls from other area schools: Cave Spring, Northside, and Patrick Henry.

When you need a new outfit,

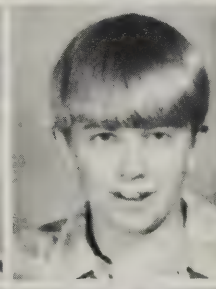

Gina can tell you what the latest colors and fashions are.

Physical Education teachers had always stressed the importance of good posture: how one walks, holds her shoulders, and keeps the head and chin erect. All of this helped Gina face her audience and win their applause as she appeared from the dressing room.

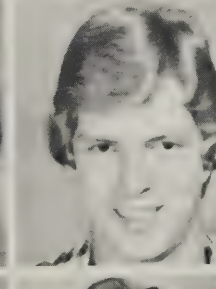

Who knows? Gina may make it to the top in the field of modeling.

Dracula Bites

Interest in film-making for Mick Simmons started during his seventh grade. After reading the novel Dracula, Mick and several of his fellow classmates filmed their own version of the book.

Mick is particularly interested in his own cartoon animations. He has also done scenes from Star Wars and other spaceship scenes.

One of Mick's greatest expectations is to do a fantasy flick with his guitar. Watch for Mick in the future spotlight of film-making.

One of the things Mick misses most at FCHS are facilities in photography and film-making. In his previous school, he was exposed to such training. He believes if enough students would show interest in the audio field, a class would be provided for those interests. All he can say now is . . . maybe someday.

Writing Songs

Having the creativity to write songs keeps Roxanne Dillon busy. Over a period of six years, she has written two hundred and seven lyrics.

She is having her song "A Smile Of Love Forgotten" published. If disc jockeys will play it often enough, Roxanne could become a very successful song writer.

Working with a producer, Fralin Lynch, from Georgia keeps Roxanne believing that a career in song writing is possible. Hopefully, she keeps working and songs keep popping into her mind.

Roxanne is a very positive person, so her songs have a ring of happiness and success in them.

An Unusual Hobby

Restoring antique automobiles is a pastime which Jeff Robertson enjoys. His hobby started several years ago when his father took home a 1950 Chevrolet. Jeff took a look at it and said, "No way." However, after spending time, money, and disgust on the car, it hummed like a bird. So the model car bug bit and Jeff started repairing.

Included in his collection: a 1928 Model-A, a 1930 Model A Ford, and a 1950 Ford.

Jeff participates in school sports, but getting into the garage to work on his cars is most rewarding. Like in school sports, where skills need to be practiced and practiced again, so does Jeff do until those finishes on his cars before the perfected stages are reached.

Financial aid can be the result of Jeff's interesting hobby. He does not expect a constant income; however, he does expect to spend many happy hours as he tinkers and rubs on those antique cars.

Beautiful Experiences

Most of us are looking for a secret hide-away or a resort to which we can escape the hassles of life. Renee found hers on the saddle of a horse or on the seat of a motorcycle.

To have complete control of the one of the most powerful beasts on earth, or to ride against the wind at a speed of 70 miles an hour is a satisfying experience to Renee. Her quote: "I feel as if there's no one that can reach me; and there's no problem that can tear me down, for I am the only one who exists as I ride toward the setting sun."

Being able to master nature's animal, the horse, and man's creation, the motorcycle, gives Renee opposites in experiences that are never boring. But each experience needs skill in performance that keeps Renee on her toes. Like the tightrope walker, one mistake can be devastating. That's what makes this part of Renee's life interesting - to become master of fate for a few moments.

The Sound Of Music

Last summer Doug McComsey and Joe Shively competed as members of the Kilts Drum and Bugle Corps of Racine Wisconsin. In Kilts, Doug was in the drum line and Joe was in the horn line. The Kilts are members of Drum Corps International, an organization made up of the top drum corps in the world. Drum corps are made up of various drums and bugles, flags, and rifles. Drum corps do field shows judged on the basis of execution, difficulty, and excitement. In order for drum corps to compete with the the finest corps and to gain public recognition they go on nation wide tours. A typical day means waking up on the bus in a new city, getting off the bus to practice all day with a couple of meals thrown in. Late that afternoon you get dressed, go to the show, and compete that night. After the show it's back on the bus and on to the next city. Being a Kilt means pride and determination and it takes a lot to live up to the tradition of wearing a kilt. Drum corps may sound like a hard life, but the rewards are good. After all, when's the last time you had 32,000 people give you a standing ovation. There is no feeling like that.

Smashing It

Tennis, being a sport with national popularity, has become a favorite sport for many students. S.J. Plybon is such a student who plays the game of tennis with great agility and enthusiasm.

Much of S.J.'s summertime is spent with a racquet in his hand and some opponent trying to return his bullet-like serves. Days are filled with practicing for greater opponents in the future.

Winning the Franklin County Spring Tennis Tournament of The B Division helped get S.J. ready for school participation. Although an injured heel kept him from playing with the school team, he was always present with words of encouragement and advice.

Not only does S.J. play tennis, but he teaches it at Franklin County Recreation Park. Getting that back-hand just right takes coaching that S.J. shares with other people.

Hallways were always a favorite meeting place for Teresa Perdue, Patricia Nichols, Renee Handy, Kelly Poff, and Wanda Whitlow.

Starting the day out with smiles, Lorie Muse and Dana Carty keep happy.

Studying a writing in literature, Donna Hurt, Tammy Dillon, James Corvin, and Jessie Sigmon prepare to write a critical paper.

'81 Is Number One

When you see a junior in the hall, in class, or anywhere else on campus you can automatically tell that they are juniors, because they outshine anyone else around. That great class of '81 has intelligence, wit, chrisma, and uniqueness!

You can always find Duane Hall and Dwayne Hatchett sharing a good laugh together.

Stopping for a cool drink of water is Norman Muse.

Gathering in the halls was always a must for Joe Williams, Todd Hammock, Jimmy Hamilton, Mike LeMaster, and Bruce Hodges.

Becoming A Sophomore

WOW! No longer were we freshmen. We were no longer on the bottom rung. We were climbing.

That climbing made a difference that can only be explained by a sophomore. Now we were able to look down our noses. Yes, we did. We treated freshman just as we had been treated. But we were nice once in awhile. We did not always give the same torture we had experienced, but we knew we had the right . . . and that made the difference.

BEING A SOPHOMORE WAS DIFFERENT.

Shooting The Rapids

Being a self-proclaimed champion canoeist, Kurt Stephenson finds life on the river a great experience.

Having four years of canoeing experience gives Kurt the hopes of more challenging rivers. He is also looking forward to entering the Pigg River Ramble this spring; last spring age prevented his being a participant.

All the local rivers including Smith River and New River have given Kurt their welcome. He is one sophomore who uses the beauty of nature to spotlight his life.

At The Piers

Making a spray-cut comes easy for Brian Hart. He is on the Philpott Ski Team where he works hard to perfect his skiing ability. Included in his skills: makes three hundred sixty degree turns, jumps from wake to wake, makes a fifteen foot spray-cut, makes a half helo, skis barefoot, and also skis on a canoe paddle.

Using five hours per week during the summer helps Brian become a teammate with extraordinary skills.

Competing in water-skiing, Brian Hart enjoys his summer sport.

Not Just Another

Having dairy cows for a hobby is not as unusual as it may seem, or at least not for Liz Newbill. Liz's father started her in the dairy business when she was born by registering a heifer in her name. Now Liz has a total of twenty-six animals in her herd.

Liz and her animals are constantly in the spotlight traveling to cattle shows and conventions all over the country. In the course of a year, Liz shows three or four animals at different fairs and exhibitions. Her winnings are profitable.

In her six years of showing cows, Liz has won twenty-seven trophies and 319 ribbons. There were eighty-one blue ribbons among her wins.

For Jeff Turner, wrestling is a favorite sport. Jeff likes wrestling because of his accomplishments in the one on one sport.

Jeff is proud that he has been able to represent his school in wrestling in a winning fashion. He won five gold medals wrestling in the eighth grade. He also won a medal in the district championship. he was in the 142 pound class.

Jeff plans to continue wrestling in school competition with dreams of making a career in the sport.

Most of all, Jeff likes to know that he has the support of his sophomore classmates. In whatever school endeavor any classmate made the spotlight, most of the sophomores gave their best in class spirit.

Oct. 2, 1961 - Aug. 20, 1979

To every thing there is a Season,
A Time to be born, and a time to die;
A time to weep, and a time
to laugh;
A time to morn, and a time
to dance;
He hath made everything
beautiful in his time.

These words describe how Jimmy felt about life, and death. He lived a beautiful season. His birth was such a joy. There were times when he felt sorrow and times of happiness. Most of his life's seasons were joy and laughter. But in the quiet of night, in peace, he died. He truly hath made everything
beautiful in his time.

Almost "Upperclassmen"

Showing happiness. Randolph Campbell, David Witcher, and Ray Clayborne know that becoming a junior is finally a reality.

Waiting for a friend, Rachael Pruitt hopes the bell doesn't ring.

Members of the J.V. football team Charlie Bowler, Jeff Henley, and Darryl Holcomb enjoy the Football Picnic.

What a relief! Striving to become an upperclassman had been on sophomores minds since September. They had kept it quiet, but those inner feelings were always saying, "Soon will be the time," When the time came to move into the junior section of the gym, sophomores were more than ready. The road had been long - but the goal had been reached. Getting class rings proved that sophomores could now be called "upperclassmen" and they knew there was a difference.

Waiting in the lunch line, Donna Pasley and Terry Oakes look forward to a good meal.

Excited freshmen socialize with friends as they await the start of the first assembly.

Class Of '83

What makes a good class? The number of people? No, not really. Size is important, but it does not determine a good class. The team? No, they help but they don't make a great class.

What does make a good class then? The people who are a part of the teams and a part of the size. Each individual has his or her own special qualities. These qualities put together create a special class.

Contrary to popular belief, freshmen are people. No, they are not stupid little kids. They are people who deserve respect for their talents and feelings.

The class of '83 is filled with students who have a variety of talents in music, sports, academics, leadership, the arts, and dance. These students participate in these activities at school and at outside programs. Being bullied by upper classmen makes the freshmen more determined to perfect their talents and make their class the best ever.

At the beginning of December, a survey was taken from a group of freshmen. They were asked what they liked best about the high school. A few of the best answers are following.

One of the most popular answers was freedom - freedom to choose your classes, freedom to roam the halls during lunch or study.

Another good answer was people. Everywhere you go, you see more and more people - people who help you with your work and people who make you laugh, but best of all, people who are your friends.

Socializing in the halls before school is an every day past time for Cindy Tolbert, Pam Plybon, Missy Blankenship, and Anita Saxon.

Close To Perfect

Several students were asked what they dislike about the high school. Many good answers were recieved and some are shown here.

The response which was most popular was work. Of course, no one likes to work, but sometimes it is necessary to help understand your work. Thinking to try and solve problems is a great stress, but it must be done.

Another thing the freshmen did not like about FCHS was the lack of time between classes. Running from building to building was a real hassle at first, but once you adjusted to it, it wasn't so bad.

There were some people who found nothing wrong with this school. Is it possible for it to be perfect? not likely, but with more opinions like that, maybe it can come close.

Something New

Homecoming. Not really an unusual event for the upperclassmen but still a new experience for the freshmen, they were finally able to vote on a court of their choice.

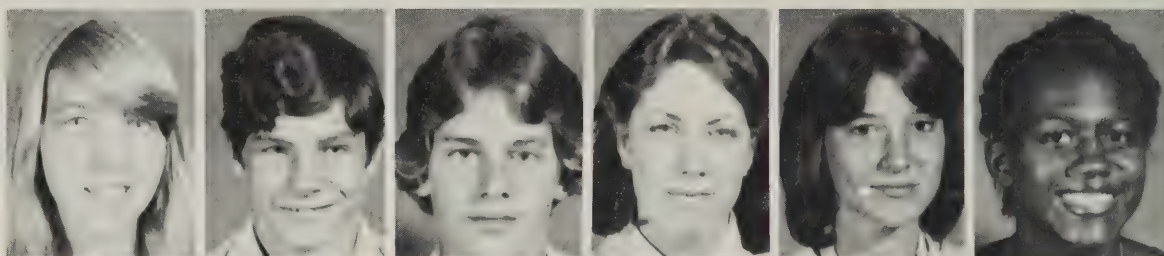

They voted for pretty, sweet, and popular girls. The girls on this court were Lynn Jamison, Michelle Johnson, Donna Pasley, Angie Williams, and Patsy Young.

The First Year

Appetites are whetted as teammates head toward the cook-out.

Practicing daily, the girls' basketball team improves their skills.

This being the first year as an official high school student the freshmen were a little scared, not really by changing classes but of not getting to class on time. Almost half of the freshmen said they worried about getting lost. It was nice having understanding teachers when you were trying to figure out which building was east, west, or the vocational.

There were many changes at the high school: the scenery, the noise, and the size.

Seeing something shocking,
Jimmy Roop gives a startled look.

Before Christmas vacation a number of students were asked what they would change about FCHS. The responses were varied. One popular answer was more time between classes. Coming to a new school is a strain but not having enough time to get to each of your classes only increases that strain. To upperclassmen seven minutes is plenty of time, but to new people, it isn't enough.

Another thing they would change would be to have longer lunches. Some think that 47 minutes is not enough time to get your lunch, eat, and get back to class. Of course, another thing you don't do is socialize. Everyone likes to talk with friends but some people like to eat. If you had more time, you could do both.

Many people said they would remodel the school. They wanted air - conditioning, carpet, and a shelter running from the east to the west building. Would it be possible to change these things?

Hoping to get the rebound, number 24 stays alert.

Sports were a big part of school life. Like everyone else, freshmen had their favorite sport.

Answering a survey, freshmen revealed that one-fourth of them liked football best of all.

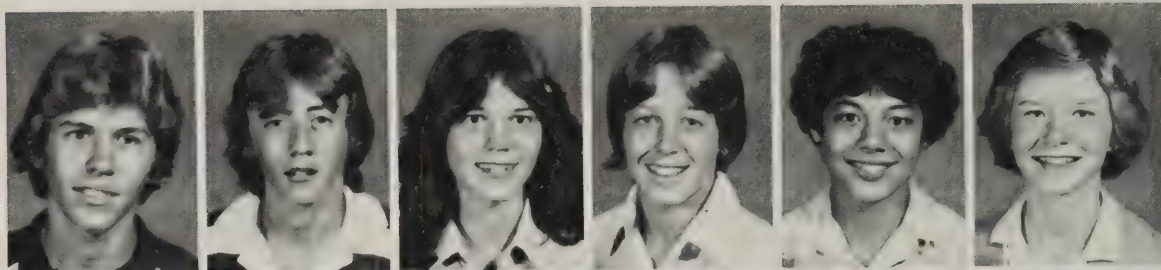

It was the excitement of moving that football and the crisp October weather that made football such a favorite.

Basketball was given a big vote in capturing the favorite sport. Many freshmen enjoy that winter sport when life settles down from those football games.

However, some freshmen stuck with the good old American game of baseball. Those homeruns and strikeouts are exciting when those warm spring days call us to the great out-of-doors.

It was learned that freshmen are active people and like to be a part of sports.

Freshmen's Fears

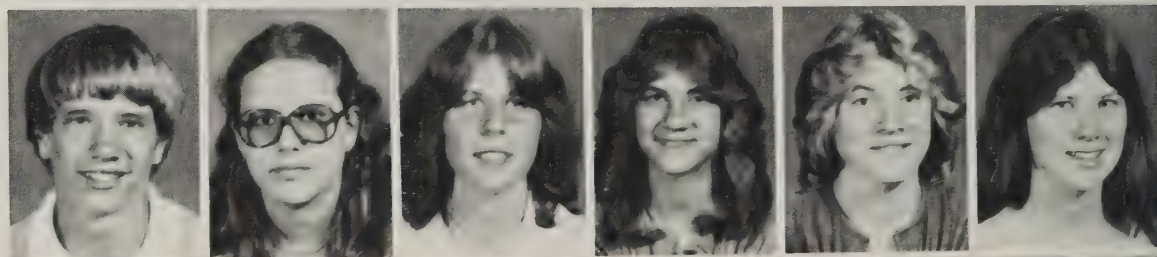

Instead of going to lunch, Tony Doss and Cindy Wood study for their next class.

If you were to ask freshmen what worried them most about coming to the high school, the answer probably would be their fear of getting lost. To the upperclassmen, the fear of getting lost is now a big laugh.

Other worries were getting into trouble and not getting to class on time. But soon the worries were a part of the past for them too.

Exam Syndrome

Showing the latest dance steps, Bennie Dillon and Tammy Allman play around in the hall as Todd Grindstaff and Sheila Morris look on.

A dreaded event for every class. Exams! It was a new experience for freshmen and something they had to get used to. Everyone told them that exams were awful. Your teachers told you that you would have a five page exam on everything you learned. You went home and studied for hours. Then the dreaded day arrived. You walked into your first period class and panicked. Everything you studied suddenly left you. The teacher handed you the exam and you started at it, trying to remember what you studied. As you sat there you thought and wrote. With each word you wrote, you hoped more and more that each word was correct.

Looking on, Glenn McCrickard looks to see if Timmy Cuff is hurt.

People gain many things from going to school. They gain in a good education, many friends, and many other things. But one of the most valuable things a person can get is memories.

People remember different things. You might remember a big football or basketball game, your friends, and a certain high school year, like your freshmen year. But whatever you remember, it's yours.

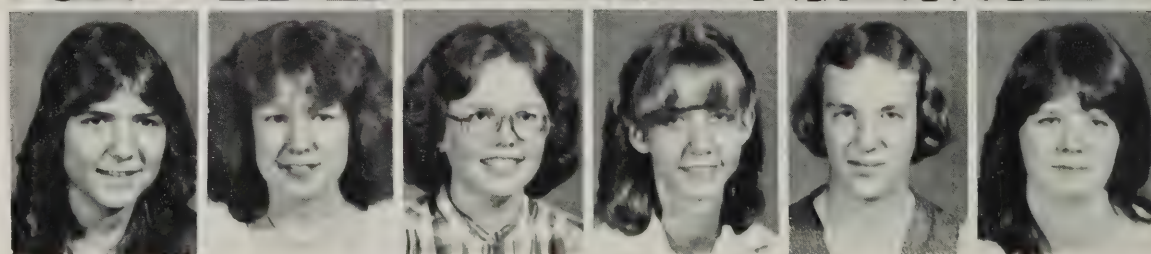

But memories aren't all pleasant. Somethings painful may have happened and aren't always the ones you want to remember.

Some Memories Were Painful

In Memoriam
Roscoe Berger Allman

Dancing and entertaining were the Pom-Pom Squad's major job. Dancing to perfection meant practicing two and three times a week. It also meant practicing many hours at home and having your parents think you were cracking up.

But you knew it was worth all that hard work after you finished a performance and you heard the applause. This was the first year for an all ninth grade squad. Their performing encouraged the ninth grade basketball team to do their best for the home crowd. Making up the dances, helping to pick out new songs, and making sure all the dance steps were done correctly were the responsibilities of Diane Lepanen and Shay English, the captain and the co-captain.

Carpenters

That's exactly what the school choirs did, except their songs were good enough for everyone else to hear.

The choir consisted of 125 members. They were divided into four choirs - the Ninth Grade Choir, the Concert Choir, the Mixed Chorus, and the Choral which was the most advanced choir.

The choirs were always busy. They had two main concerts during the year - the Christmas Concert, which was a joint effort with the band, and the Spring Concert. The big event of the year was the April trip to Washington, Hampton, and Williamsburg. As active as the choirs were, it's no wonder they stayed in the spotlight.

The Mixed Chorus: Tonda McGee, Lisa Peters, Lisa Bernard, Judy Tuning, Gail Hughes, Dawn Wheeler, Polly Fisher, Yvette Janey, Donna Sigmon, Rebecca Holley, and Mary Bonds. For the breakfast, Rebecca Young made the Wedding Cake.

To highlight the end of the Marriage and Family Home Economics semester class, a Mock Wedding was held in Room 106V. Being the first year for this class, excitement was high among the twenty-five students who participated in the planning and preparation for the Wedding and the Breakfast which followed. Arlington Flowers and Gifts furnished the flowers and palm plants and assisted in decorating the Home Economics Department into a Chapel. During the Marriage and Family course, the students did an extensive study of the cost of different kinds of weddings and the cost of establishing a home.

Worries of Making route checks are the parents of Bruce and Sandra Hodges, and Mike McCall.

Showing his mother what school is like,
 James Lovell gets very serious.

Helping her parents find their way around the school, Beverly Cundiff waits for the next teacher.

The Back-to School Night

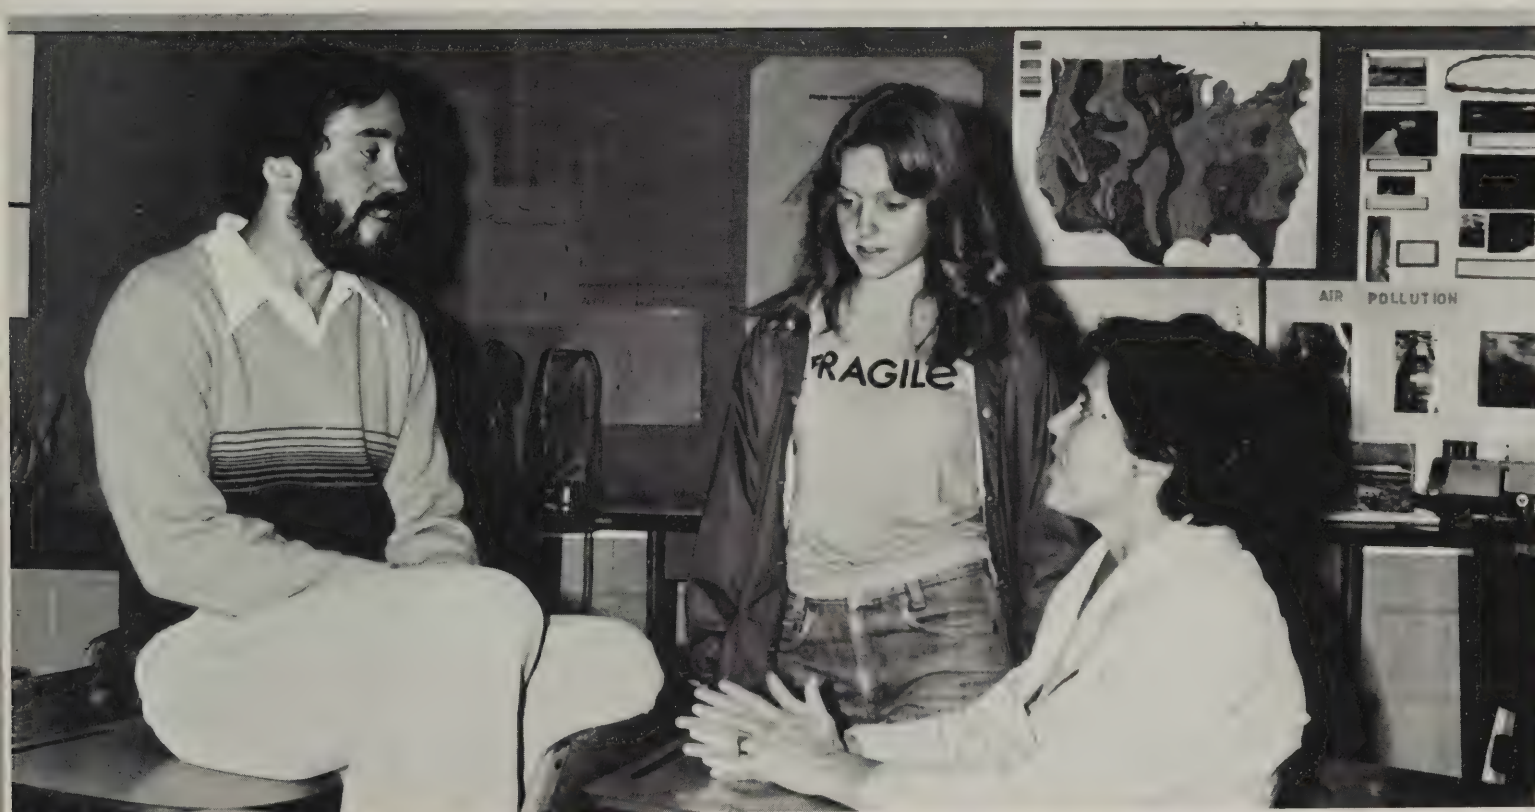

Back-to-School-Night was always a worry for some students. Just "WHAT IF" that teacher told about the paper ball I threw at the handsome jock sitting across the room. Or suppose that teacher showed that low grade I made because I had spent hours practicing for that special game, or concert, or play, or cheerleading, or classroom quiz - my mom would never understand. She believed there were 48 hours in my day when really there were only 24. Remember that night when finishing a research paper came at 2 A.M. However, it was good to have my parents meet that person I faced five days a week, nine months out of the year. Most of the time, the back to school night went well, but there were those times of not being sure all would be well.

It was a nice surprise the next day when some teachers gave some extra reward for a parent's visit.

Although parent's night seems to be losing ground, the cooperation of home and school was the key to successful education.

Hoping that all is well, Dana Jennings and her mother converse with Mr. Richardson.

Showing Debbie Shively and her mother some class activities, Mrs. Simmons keeps the night interesting.

Mrs. Warren gives assurance to Mrs. Loudermilk who is asking about her son.

Working together to complete a wintery scene bulletin board, Phyllis Brown, Edward Starkey, Glenn Cannaday, and John Adams are pleased with their creation.

Writers for the bulletin board project were Keith Renick, James Lovell, Earl Beeghly, John Woody, Wesley Holland, Mike Perdue, Daniel Gish, and Kenneth Law.

Some students in Appreciation II found that writing their own stories and creating art work to go with them gave interest and a new experience in learning.

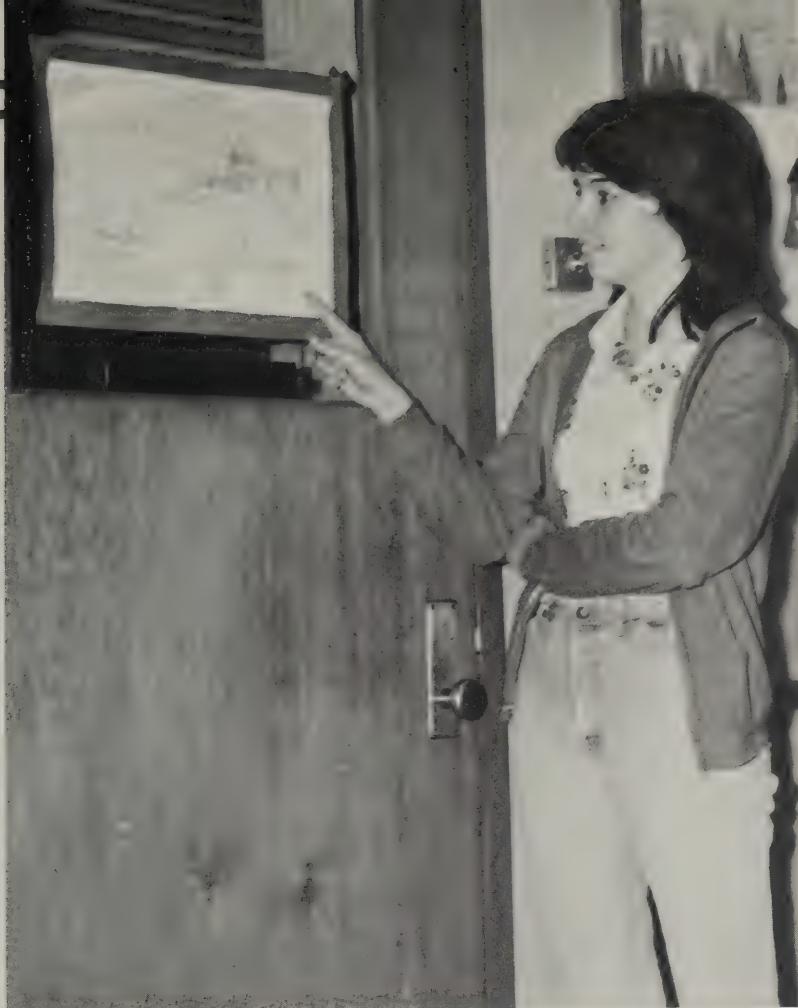

Every student in the class was involved with the project. Cooperation was always evident as skillful hands rubbed the colored chalk into making a beautiful wintery rural setting.

While some students used their artistic abilities, others created stories to explain the art work. The story on the next page is a combination of ideas taken from several stories.

The students agreed that working with their hands and minds in group situations gave them real appreciation for the class and for other class members. Although the class ended in January, most of the students wished it could continue until June. It was truly a class to remember.

Having good ideas in art, David Gray made a great contribution with his "house on the hill."

Winter Wonderland

As a small part of the many peaceful hillsides in Franklin County, the moonshine capital of the world, this scene may represent many scenes of your imagination.

The house on the extreme right may be the usual Franklin County home with its Christmas tree and stockings hanging in a row. However, the building on the hill may be in the process of manufacturing the spirits of many Franklin Countians.

Look at the house on the left. Friends may be having a Christmas party with a big country ham cooking in a pot over the fireplace, and a home-grown turkey boiling on the wood stove. All the supplements to the ham and turkey are completed and waiting to be served.

Whatever is happening, peace and serenity abound, for that is what Christmas is all about. How nice it would be if that peace would last forever just as it is in our created winter wonderland.

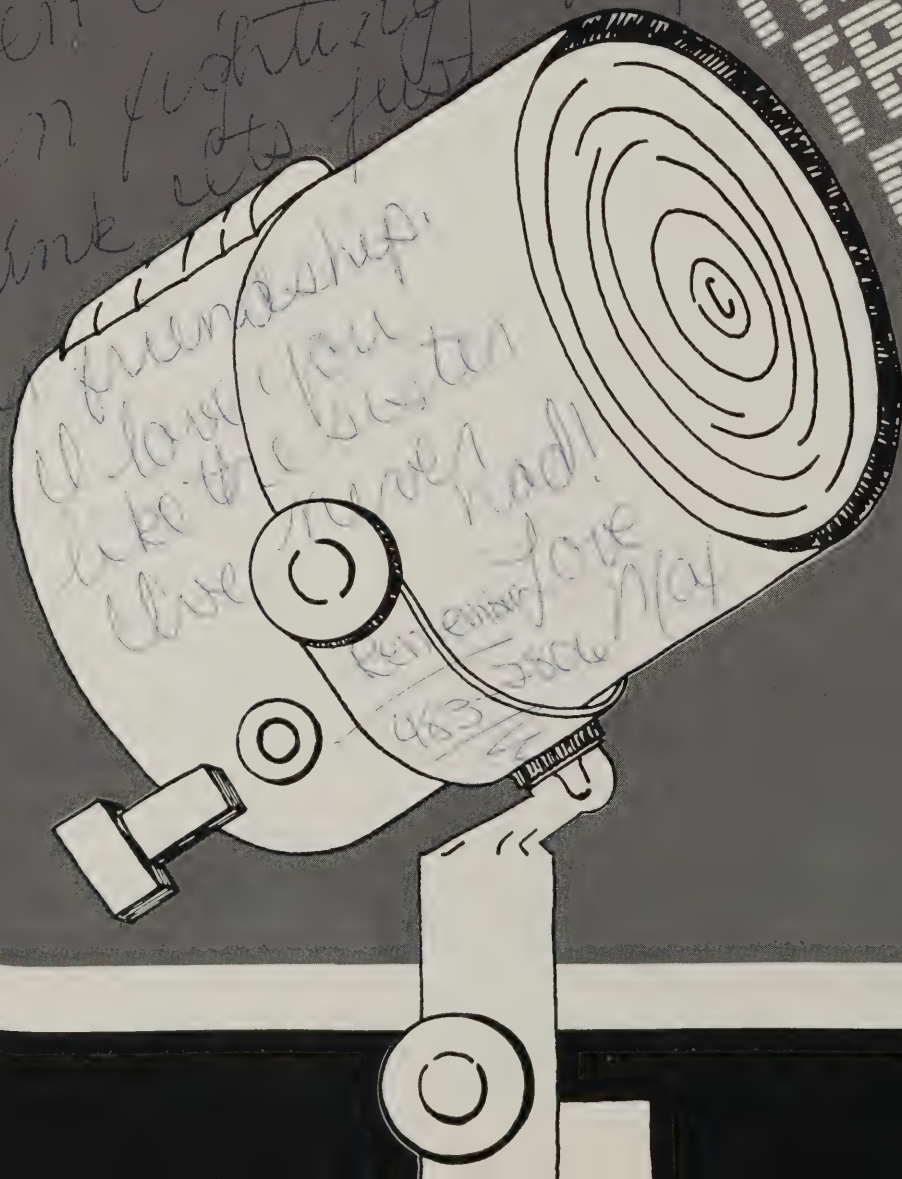

Displaying her own creation, Dorothy Young places her winter wonderland scene on the classroom door's window.

Other artists include Daniel Boyd, Jerry Prillaman, David Gray, and Mike Patterson. Each student had his/her part to create.

Handwritten text, likely a student's contribution to the winter wonderland scene.

I've been thinking about you a lot lately. I hope you're doing well. I've been thinking about you a lot lately. I hope you're doing well. I've been thinking about you a lot lately. I hope you're doing well.

Jan, it's been a new experience
 for us to be on the 40th yearbook staff.
 It's been fun having to write
 all of the years w. really had fun.
 You've been a lot of help and I really appreciate it. You've been a good friend.
 Had a great summer & don't want to end. Good luck in the future.

Shopping Center, Senior Citizens' Village, September Flooding, and plans for a Stadium. All of these happenings made '79 a year to remember. Another Decade . . .

'80 opens up as the year of the decade.

Great Jocks to look forward to in the 1980 Olympics are discus thrower Al Oerter, javelin thrower Kate Schmidt, runner Evelyn Ashford, gymnast Tracee Talavera, figure skater Linda Fratianne, and diver Jennifer Chandler. The dreams of the television screen to look for in the 80's Steve McQueen, Olivia Newton John, Kristy McNichol, and Tatum O'Neal . . . For books keep a watch on writers like Gay Talese and Jean Auel, . . . and the world of song and good music be in step with: Bob Seger, and Ellen Foley . . . Super Bowl XIV was a big hit in the beginning of the 80's as the Steelers defeated the Rams and won their fourth Super Bowl title. A big event for the '80's that took four years to happen was Martin Luther King's birthday is now a legal holiday, Jan. 15. Will the '80's bring forth World War III?

'79, "The Year of the Child", left behind a lot of good memories.

The television screen brought us good movies like Roots: The Next Generation, Blind Ambition, and the World Series . . . The World of Music brought forth "Off the Wall" by Michael Jackson, "Tusk", by Fleetwood Mac, "Great Balls of Fire" by Dolly Parton and "Bad Girls" by Donna Summers . . . Good screen pictures were The China Syndrome, Kramer vs. Kramer, The Rose, and The Jerk. Political wise Jimmy Carter was faced with the Iranian Crisis and U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young resigned from his post.

The year '79 brought good stories in Franklin County like Eagle Basketball Team posting 20-2 record, Gasoline Shortage, Construction of Free To Be In The Spotlight In whatever area a student wished is what the ANIMO '80 is about. The aim of the yearbook staff was to reflect those moments when students, faculty, or staff were doing those things which gave special meaning to the individual and to the school.

To the class of '80, the staff hopes your future will be just as fulfilling as your years have been at FCHS.

Animo '79-'80 Staff

Miss Buford,
What can I say
to you I like it edgy...
see you this summer...
Have a nice summer...

I have classes...
Don't get all the guys at...

once...

Who said J.R. was slick!

He ain't nothing (notice this English grammar)

We've had a good time this year.

Jan,
What can I say,
your so smart and
pretty! Hope to see you next year.

Jan,

I can't tell you how much I have enjoyed this year with you. This has been a great one. Track especially when you can see all the good looking guys. (ex. Danny T.)
also, you are a very nice and pretty girl and a great friend and person to be with. I hope our friendship is always the same. Hope we have many classes together next year.

A/F/A

See ya
your friend

Jan,
It's been great
having you in Latin.
I hope to have you in
some classes next year.
I hope you won't miss Diane too much. A/F/A Diane Lepponen

Jan,

Even though we didn't have many classes together,
we're still quite a pair.
In track we're number 1.
With others we don't compare.

Have a nice summer
and stay sweet and pretty.
Maybe we will get together
this summer.

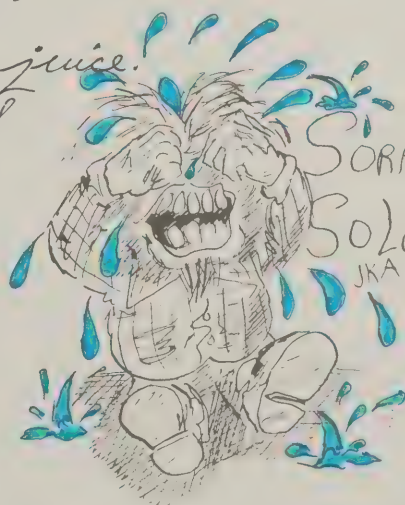

A/F/A

Cindy Self

Jan,
 I can't tell you how much our friendship means to me. You've always been one of my best friends, but this year seemed even more special. Not many people could put up with me or my craziness like you have. I hope for the rest of our high school career and even as we go our ways, we will stay close as we are now. English and Science for 3 years is a good record that I hope won't break. Science has to be our "BEST" class. You have many good qualities that I hope, if I have children, will rub off.
 Your sincerity shows what every true friend has, concern for others' feelings.
 Brains! + Creativity! Your ability in things of this nature will take you far. This year would have been both boring and lonely if not for you. You always seemed in a pleasant + cheerful mood which made 3rd an fun class. When you were out it was like going without sunshine or should I say orange juice!
 It seems like doomsday that we'll be separated this summer, but keep in touch - you've got my no.

P.S. Lock
 good with the guys.
 (But not too much)

God Bless,
 Love,
 Karen

Texas,

Thanks for the so-called "water breaks" I really needed them. It's been great knowing you for 3 years and I enjoyed taking Mr. Cooper's test with you and failing too! I hope to see you next year and I hope you have a great summer chasing the boys! Just don't catch'em or you're in big trouble, just kidding. Good luck and you And Karen just keep splashin' it on!

Love

Jan,

It's been a fun experience getting to know you this year. You're kind, considerate, very sweet, and nice looking. No this is not a "Snow Job". I know you will pass Latin, I only hope I do too. Remember all the times I called you to study and somehow we always managed to get off the subject. I think you've got the potential to be or do whatever you want in life. If you ever get married or plan to ANYTIME, make sure the Groom is a sweet person, and has as good a personality as you possess. I truly wish you the best of the best of luck at whatever you attempt. Have a great summer and a happy life.

Jan,
 It's been fun being you & know & met each other during the summer when we were in the eye but then it quite. You are really a sweet person. I wished there was more people like you. Even though you were a stupid to sign up for writing copy. Stay sweet over the summer & remember me come to see me

Jan,

Another year of track has passed and we lived through it. I don't know if I could have made it without your support. The days I were down, you brightened them, and the days I was happy you picked on me but I didn't mind. You're a very special friend to me. Please come out for track next year because without you I would be lonely. You're one of the sweetest and cutest friends I could have. Greg & I will have to come see ya this summer. Don't forget me because I won't forget you. Call me sometime (365-2012) maybe we can get together and have a real good time. Stay sweet like you are. Good Luck to a very special friend. Love, Charles Peters

Jan,

All the fun we had in track will remain in the memory banks a long time. You're really the spirit the team needs - so better see you out there the rest of your high school years. Thanks for inviting me to the Bible club meetings - they're really inspirational and a great way to start 2 days of the week. Don't forget the ping-pong tournaments - didn't you win the last one? No, actually I still think I'm the champ. But don't bring my ego crashing down by telling me someone else is. I'm sure in the future years will become closer because we share something very nice - Christ. Good Luck in everything you aspire to do - reach up as far as you can - and God will reach down. Much love is wished for you,
